England Comes to Defense
of Menaced Nobility.London, January 20.—The status of the parties, according to the returns up to date in the general elections, is as follows:

Unionists 163
Liberals 127
Laborites 121
Nationalists 53
Gains—Unionists, 71; Liberals, 10;
Laborites, 1.
The returns received during the day
from sixty-eight seats, of which fifty-six were polled Wednesday and twelve Thursday, show the following results:

Unionists 34
Liberals 18
Laborites 18
Nationalists 9
Gains—Unionists, 15.

Government in Close Quarters.
Thirteen Unionist gains were in country seats, one in Scotland and one in Wales. If the Unionists gain 22 of the 168 remaining seats, the government will be dependent upon the votes
of the Nationalists to legislate.

Elections were held today for forty-six seats, one in London, three in English provincial boroughs, twenty-six in English counties, eight in Scotland, three in Wales and six in Ireland. Reports from only twelve of these were received tonight.

The old-fashioned English country people, with their rock-ribbed conservatism, their reverence for the nobility and their prejudices against the new-fashioned socialism, were heard from today, and they gave a decided boost to the conservative stock. Tonight the Unionists everywhere have taken cheer.

Irish Party Will Dictate.
The Liberal government's return to power with a less convincing mandate for its policies from the country than it counted upon, if the present tendency prevails among the remainder of the voters the next few days. Its allies, the Laborites and Nationalists, will practically hold the balance of power, and the Irish party particularly will be in a position to dictate legislation.

The proposal to reform the house of lords counted strongly, and with the country people, perhaps more strongly than did tariff reform. Scotland and Wales stand by the Liberal party, but these countries have given general and even Unionist gains.

The results of the pollings for fifty-eight seats yesterday were announced today, and forty-seven more seats were contested today, but returns from less than half of the latter have been reported tonight. London's last borough gave its verdict in favor of a Unionist, Westminster electing W. L. A. Burdett-Coutts, with his majority nearly doubled. The metropolis has thirty-four Unionists, twenty-six Liberals and two Laborites, whereas in 1906, thirty-eight Liberals were elected in London,
twenty-one Unionists and three Laborites.

"Father of Penny Postage" Wins.
J. Henniker Heaton, the "father of penny postage," reclaimed his Canterbury seat by only twenty-one votes,
having an independent Unionist competing for the party's support. Sir James H. Daisiel, proprietor of The Reynolds Newspaper, keeps his Scottish seat for the Liberals by a largely increased majority. Arthur H. Lee, formerly military attaché of the British embassy at Washington, retains his seat as a Unionist for the South Farham division of Hampshire.

Captain H. Spencer Clay, Unionist, whose wife is a daughter of William Waldorf Astor, defeated the late Liberal member, A. F. Hodges. The Right Hon. Herbert Louis Samuel, undersecretary for the home office, was turned in Yorkshire, North Riding, Cleveland division.

The Right Hon. A. Ure, attorney general, was endorsed by his Linnithgowshire constituents by a strong vote.
Extreme Anti-Liquor Man Beaten.
Leif Jones, Liberal, leader of the extreme temperance party, and largely responsible for the recent licensing
bill, was defeated in the Appleby division of Westmoreland, and the "trade" rejoices.

"I am quite confident of the result throughout the country," said Chancelor Lloyd-George at Banskort tonight.
Exciting scenes followed the declaration of the poll at Buckingham, where the Liberal candidate, F. W. Verney, son of Lord Verney, won by a narrow margin. The enraged Unionists chased several prominent Liberals, who took refuge in the nearby houses. A stone broke the glass in a motorcar in which Lady Victor and Miss Verney were driving.

MEN WHO STOLE $1,300,000 FREED;
THEFT DROVE 5 PERSONS TO DEATH
AND CAUSED 4 TO BECOME INSANE

Chicago, January 20.—Paul O. Stensland, formerly president of the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank of Chicago, and Henry W. Hering, formerly its cashier, convicted in connection with the wrecking of the bank and the disappearance of $1,300,000 of its funds, were paroled today.

Stensland, who was captured after a chase extending into Europe and to Morocco, had served three years, three months and twenty-four days when the pardon board today concluded he had been punished enough. He was sent to the penitentiary on an indeterminate sentence of from one to ten years. Hering was under a similar sentence. Arguments before the pardon board on behalf of the prisoners were that their guilt consisted chiefly in trying to cover up shortages while struggling to get the bank out of difficulty.

The looting of the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank involved the savings of 22,000 depositors. Stensland left Chicago July 14, 1908, without making his destination known to his associates and it was not until August 4

that the bank was closed by the state bank examiner. Cashier Hering also disappeared. Later the paying teller and three depositors, who had lost their savings committed suicide.

In the meantime the fugitive bank
president was traced to Tangier, Morocco, where he was arrested September 3, 1906. Cashier Hering returned and gave himself up. He admitted that he had assisted Stensland in manipulating the funds.

The board ordered Stensland paroled to James Kelley, managing editor of The Chicago Tribune, who accompanied Assistant State's Attorney Olson to Morocco, and who was present at the fugitive's capture.

PLEADING "UNWRITTEN LAW," HUSBAND AND YOUNG WIFE ARE ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Rome, Ga., January 20.—Weeping bitterly as she heard her husband denounced as a red-handed murderer by attorneys, Grace Rossi, the 18-year-old Italian wife of Frank Rossi, an Italian restaurant owner, was an interesting figure in the superior court room
here today. Young Rossi, himself only 20, is accused of having shot Edward Harris, a cotton mill employee, and is on trial for his life.

The taking of testimony consumed
most of the day, but arguments have been begun and the case will go to the jury Friday afternoon. After the man's trial is over the woman will be put on trial as an accessory.

This situation led to an unusual development. The testimony in the two cases will be identical and Judge John W. Maddox requested the newspaper men to refrain from printing or sending an account of the evidence to any paper that will reach Rome before the woman's trial is begun.

Only a small number of men are eligible for jury duty in Floyd county,
and the judge feared that the reading of the testimony in the man's case would cause opinions as to the woman's guilt to be formed in the minds of prospective jurors and thus make it impossible to secure a jury.

All the men on the jury list were barred from the court room and no details of the testimony were printed. The evidence was sensational in some phases,
but the judge ruled out testimony as to Grace Rossi's character, upon which the state had expected to make an attack in response to the defense's plea of the unwritten law.

RE-ENACTED IN HIS SLEEP
SCENES OF DOUBLE MURDER
AND HE'S NOW A PRISONER

Statesboro, Ga., January 20.—Because he reenacted in his sleep, as is alleged,
the scenes of a double murder committed October 11, 1908, in this county,
in which Deputy Sheriff Donaldson and J. L. Kennedy, members of a posse, killed Benjamin Jones, alias Andrew Watson, is a prisoner in the hands of the Baltimore police, it was learned here today.

Mollie Cowans, a negro woman, it is said, told the story of Jones' queer sleep-actions. She declared that he even mentioned the names of the two slain white men, and went through the motions of shooting them. Donaldson and Kennedy were pursuing a negro named Watson in this (Bulloch) county on the date mentioned, and were fired upon from a house by Watson

and another negro, both white men being fatally wounded. The negroes escaped and nothing had been heard from them until now. After the shooting of the two men, the county engaged, trying to find the negroes.

WOMAN BEHEADED CUBAN NEGROES
BY MURDERERS GETTING CHESTYHorrible Crime Committed in Chicago Resort.

Chicago, January 20.—One of the most atrocious murders in the police history of Chicago was unearthed today when the decapitated and mutilated body of Anna Furlong, also known as Jennie Clegghorn, 24 years old, was found in a resort at 50 West Seventeenth street. Little is known of the history of the murdered woman
except that she came here from St.
Louis seven months ago, and that she was married, but living apart from her husband. She had been an inmate of the resort for several weeks.

The head was evidently carried away
by the murderer in an attempt to conceal the identity of the victim. The body was mutilated in a most revolting manner. It had been dismembered.
Part of the scalp, with an ear hanging to it, was found under the bed. A knife 7 inches long, with a wooden handle, was found concealed beneath the mattress. An opened trunk showed an attempt to conceal the body. A basin of bloody water and a newspaper
stained with blood were also in the room.

The police have six persons in cus-todody, and it is said more arrests soon will be made.

MRS. MORSE IN ATLANTA;
SEES HUSBAND AT PRISON

Mrs. Charles W. Morse is a guest at the Edmont, and since her arrival has had several conferences at the Federal prison with her husband, the one-time ice king and banker.

Of the coming legal battle looking to the release of her husband from the United States penitentiary, Mrs. Morse had little to say when seen by a Constitution representative yesterday morning. She simply asserts that that fight is in the hands of Attorney Littleton, and that she cannot anticipate his actions. She expects Mr. Littleton to reach Atlanta some time next week,
when some definite steps will be taken
—just what, she does not say, or if she knows, she declines to say. The question recently raised as to the legality
of the grand jury which indicted Morse,

They Tell Pres. Gomez
How to Run Things.

Havana, January 20.—Practically
all the negro members of congress, followed by a large crowd of colored politicians, visited President Gomez at the palace this evening and presented a petition demanding that the president take cognizance of the action of the management of the Plaza hotel, at which a negro demonstration took place recently after the refusal of the clerk to permit two negro congressmen to be served with liquor and of the
groes requesting lodging and entertainment.

The delegation informed the president that this was the first step on the part of the negro element of the whole island in a vigorous campaign to secure all the rights to which the race is entitled by virtue of its numbers and its eminent services in behalf of the republic.

The president told the delegation
that he would do all within his constitutional power to remove the cause of irritation, and secure all citizens, irrespective of color, the full enjoyment of equal rights.

An extra police guard was tonight
stationed in front of the hotel.

TRIPLE MURDER;
DOG WHINING
OVER BODIESThree Persons Are Butchered
in a Flat in Heart of
New YorkALL VICTIMS GAGGED
AND HEADS BATTEREDRobbery Was the Motive, or
It Is Another Case of the Black Hand—By the Battered Bodies a Little Bull Terrier Stood Whimpering in Terror.

New York, January 20.—A triple murder was revealed in an obscure flat in the heart of New York's East Side at Nos. 10 and 12 Montgomery street, at dusk today. Two women and a man are the victims, and the manner of death was horrible. Gagged with silk handkerchiefs, and their heads crushed with a hammer or ax,
they were left bleeding and fully dressed on the floor with a whimpering bull terrier as companion for the dead.

Robbery was the motive, or else it is another case of the Black Hand.
Salvatore Scalpone, a well-to-do young Italian barber, his wife and a middle-aged woman, believed to have been Mrs. Scalpone's mother, are the victims. His failure to appear at his shop today started an investigation which resulted in the discovery of the crime, and policemen, summoned by the janitor of the apartment, entered the locked flat by way of a fire escape.

Finding the Bodies.
In the kitchen, Scalpone's body was found. It was tied to the door, face battered beyond recognition, and lying in a great smear of blood. Near his master stood the whining bulldog, cowering and blood-spattered. The animal had passed aimlessly from body to body, sniffing and then then the other, staining the dressy crimson with his footprints and waiting for human aid.

In the next room were the bodies of the woman, gagged as was the man, the handkerchiefs similarly knotted and the heads battered as if the same instrument had been used on all of them. A weapon with which such wounds could have been inflicted was found in the flat.

Inspection by the officers revealed dire confusion; drawers were dumped out, cupboards ransacked, mattresses ripped open, every conceivable hiding place for money or valuables was open. In a little hallway last traces of the murderer or murderers were found. There, concealed under a potato sack, was a basin half-filled with bloody water, a blood-stained vessel and a pair of overalls, also blood-sp-attered. The water probably had been crimsoned as the slayer washed his hands before securely locking the apartment and making his escape by the fire escape.

Murderers Worked Quietly.
Whoever took the three lives worked quietly, else next door neighbors are confused in their statements. It was late last night that the crimes were committed, for Scalpone worked as usual in his shop until 10 o'clock last night.

Joseph Jingo, Scalpone's assistant barber, alarmed at the failure of his employer to appear for work today, gave the first clue to the murder. He called at the flat late this afternoon, found it locked and summoned the police. The two tried the door, but with no avail. Then the police were called and by the familiar fire escape entrance stood agast before the three lifeless forms. The police are of the opinion that more than one person took part in the murder, for with the buldog on guard and three persons to cope with, one man would have been powerless. Also, examination showed that Scalpone's body had been dragged
from the dining room to the kitchen, where it was tied. There is no direct clue, however, to the murderers.

Millions Used Against Tuberculosis.

New York, January 20.—Eight million dollars was spent for the prevention and treatment of tuberculosis
during the year 1909, according to the compilation just completed by the National Tuberculosis Association. Of this amount, $4,250,000 was spent from public moneys and the remainder from funds voluntarily contributed. Twice as much will be spent in 1910.

HOKE SMITH AND McLENDON
STOPPING IN THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., January 20.— (Special.)—Thomasville has had within her borders today two well-known ex-statehouse officials, one of whom was deposed from office by the voice of 12,000
* Georgians and the other by the voice of one man. They are ex-Governor Hoke Smith and ex-Railroad Commissioner S. G.
McLendon.

Mr. Smith is here representing the plaintiff in the case of Mc-Lendon v. the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, and Mr. McLendon was called to the bedside of his mother, who is quite ill. It is a singular coincidence that they should both be here at the same time, but it is safe to say that they did not time their visits to meet here.

SHE GREW TIRED OF THIS WORLD

MISS MINNIE FINKENSTADT.
She Committed Suicide Yesterday by Looping an Apron About Her Neck, Throwing It Over the Top of Dining Room Door and Jumping From a Chair.

WITH HER APRON

Commits Suicide.

Making a loop of a gingham apron
and placing one end around her neck
and the other over the top of the dining room door, Miss Minnie Finken-stadt, aged 25, stood upon a chair in her home at 307 Mangum street, yesterday and leaped to her death.

She was discovered dead at 6:45 o'clock last night by her sister, Miss Dora Finkenstadt, upon her return from work in the city. Despondency over continued ill health is given as the motive for the act. She left no
note giving cause of the deed.

Coroner Donehoo was notified by Police Call Officers Fain and West,
who were called to the scene immediately after the sister had discovered
the dead body suspended from the dining room door. An inquest will be held, probably today.

Miss Finkenstadt had been a maid
at the Piedmont Hotel for three years, giving up her position last November on account of falling health.
She lived with her sister, Dora.
The two sisters saw each other alive
for the last time at the breakfast
table Thursday morning. At the time Miss Dora Finkenstadt remembers hearing her sister state she was feeling worse than usual, but thought nothing of her illness being serious, and with a smile bade her goodby for the day. Miss Dora Finkenstadt is a candy maker at Block's factory on Elliott street. She did not return to lunch.

Leaped From Chair.

A chair standing near the suspended woman, with fresh scratches on the bottom, told plainly the manner in which she ended her life. The dining table was bare of cloth and tableware,
and two chairs and the table were all the furniture in the room, giving an atmosphere of desolation to the scene.

The gingham apron which Miss Finkenstadt wore was tied in a loop.
The knotted end was placed over the door. Pulling the door half open, Miss Finkenstadt stood in the straight chair. It is thought, and with her head through the loop, swung clear. The woman was found with her chin down,
as if she had placed every nerve at tension to stand the fatal shock. Her hands hung limply by her side. Her feet were some 10 inches above the floor.

A man knocked on the door at noon
or shortly afterwards, it was learned,
thinking it was the home of a friend whom he wished to see. After knocking several times and receiving no response, the man went to the next house and found that he had knocked on the wrong door. He is the only person thought to have been near the house since morning, and having received no response, the police believe that Miss Finkenstadt hung herself before noon, and several hours after her sister left her.

Miss Dora Finkenstadt was horrified
upon returning at night to find her sister suspended dead from the door in the dining room, the place where they had taken their last meal.

The object at first resembled a skirt or cloth hung from the door, but

Railroad Commission to Pass on Stock Issue.

STOCKHOLDERS RATIFY
INCREASE OF STOCK
The increase in the capital stock of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad Company from $1,250,000 to $2,500,000 was ratified at a meeting of stockholders held in the offices of the company at the Terminal station yesterday morning.

The additional stock is to be issued to take up $1,250,000 of debentures paying 6 per cent.
The stock will be sold to present stockholders at par, and will be prorated according to the holdings of each. Only enough stock will be sold to take up the outstanding debentures, and the remainder will be deposited in the company's treasury. The railroad commission of Georgia must give its consent before the additional issue can be made.

President Wickersham announced, after the meeting, that no action was taken in regard to double-tracking the line.

It is understood the railroad commission will have up at an early date
for investigation the Atlanta and West Point railroad stockholders' "melon cutting," as a result of which, if it goes through, each present stockholder will be sold new shares of stock equal to his present holdings, and worth now,
it is said, $170 per share, for $100.

Under the Georgia law, the railroad company will have to secure the consent of the railroad commission before it can issue the additional stock alluded to, amounting to $1,250,000, and said to be worth in the market, $875, 400 more than par.

When the commission is asked to give its consent to the issue, it is now pretty well understood it will require into the reasons for the gift of the magnificent surplus to the company's stockholders.

It is said the additional stock issue
will rather help than hurt the value of the present stock, because of the use of the proceeds in lifting the present indebtedness in the shape of $1,252,200
of debentures, so that the market value of the stock will remain stable, and the surplus be unaffected.

The matter has not yet come before the commission, and none of the members of the board will discuss it. The report seems quite authentic, however,
that the commission will make this investigation and go to the bottom of the matter when the application for permission to issue the new stock comes before it.

It has been generally reported that one of the impelling reasons for the retirement of the debentures is that they have been determined to be taxable in the state, while the stock of a domestic corporation is not subject to taxation.

drawing closer, the awful truth presented itself with sudden force. The horrible woman called the neighbors to her aid and the police came. The funeral arrangement will be announced
after the coroner's investigation.

Miss Finkenstadt, besides her sister
in this city, is survived by three brothers and a sister at Walhalla, S. C.
They are William, Charles and Fred,
and Miss Gussie Finkenstadt.

GIVE REPUBLICANS ROPE, SAYS BLIND SENATOR GORE
Washington, January 20.— Several senators visited the house during the voting on the Ballinger-Pinchot committee.
Among them was Senator Gore,
the blind senator from Oklahoma, who occupied a seat on the Democratic side. When the vote defeating the Democratic caucus nominees was announced
he commented: "It is like Napoleon at Austerlitz, where he said that when the enemy is making a mistake, don't disturb him."

Washington, January 20.—Ignoring the protests of the Democratic members, the Republican majority in the house today ratified their caucus
nominees for the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee, displacing Representatives Rainey, of Illinois,
one of the Democratic selections, and naming in his stead Representative Lloyd, of Missouri, who indicated his unwillingness to serve on the committee.

The vote was 184 ayes, 145 noes, 13
votes being procured.

The house first voted down an amendment offered by Mr. Clayton (democrat) of Alabama, substituting Rainey for Lloyd, who announced that he would not serve.

Eighteen Members Didn't Vote.
Of the eighteen members who answered "present," four—Mann of Illinois, McClachlan of California, Lundin of Illinois and Young of New York—were regular republicans.

Cary of Wisconsin, Cooper of Wisconsin, David of Minnesota, Lenroot of Wisconsin, Lindbergh of Minnesota, Poindester of Washington, Madison of Kansas and Nelson of Wisconsin were republican insurgents.

Vice President Sherman today announced the following as the senate
members of the Ballinger-Pinchot committee:

Senators Nelson of Minnesota, Flint
of California, Sutherland of Utah, Root
of New York, republicans, and Payner
of Kentucky and Fletcher of Florida, democrats.

The Fight in the House.
Promptly after the house was called to order by Speaker Cannon today, Chairman Daisell presented a resolution from the committee on rules providing for an election by resolution of six members to represent the house on the joint committee to investigate the whole matter underlying the so-called Ballinger-Pinchot controversy.

Surgical Operations

They Failed to Cure Painful Ulcers

H. E. Boardman, Yonkers, N. Y., writes: "I suffered from severe pains in my eyes, caused by ulcers, and doctors of great deal and underwent three operations, but failed to get permanent relief till I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla. I can not too highly praise this remedy. I recommend it heartily to all who are troubled with impure blood."

Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all humors from the blood, cures all eruptions and builds up the whole system. It is different from all other medicines.

The republican caucus, at once offered the names of McCall of Massachusetts, Olmstead of Pennsylvania, Denby of Michigan, Madison of Kansas, James of Kentucky and Lloyd of Missouri as members of the committee, all of them republican caucus selections.

Insisting upon recognition by the chair, Representative Lloyd announced that in the selection of democratic members of the committee, the choice of the democratic caucus should be respected. Messrs. James and Rainey having been selected by the caucus for those places, he declared he could not serve upon the committee.

Clayton Pleaded for Fairness.

After some momentary sparring, Representative Clayton of Alabama obtained the floor, and made an impassioned plea for "fairness."

"We democrats," said Mr. Clayton, "concede to the republican party the right to control this house, but we do not concede you right to dictate to the democratic party how it shall conduct its affairs."

Minority Leader Clark then made an earnest speech favoring the election of Rainey and James, concluding with a prediction of troublous times ahead should the republicans insist on ignoring the democratic caucus.

"If there is nothing wrong in the interior department," said Mr. Clark, "then neither Mr. James nor Mr. Rainey can find out that there is anything wrong there; and if there is anything wrong, it ought to be brought to the light of day. It doesn't make any difference whom it hurts."

Taft Objects to Rainey.

He had heard, he said, that President Taft had expressed dissatisfaction with the appointment of Mr. Rainey, and in a parenthetical way he spoke of his admiration for the president.

"I liked him," added Mr. Clark, "the first time I laid eyes on him. But if he did interfere in this matter, it is coming mighty close to a breach in this house."

Amid democratic applause, Mr. Clark took his seat.

Mr. Clayton then moved to amend the resolution by substituting the name of Rainey for that of Lloyd. The amendment was defeated by 147 to 192.

The Currier resolution naming the republican caucus appointees was adopted by a vote of 185 ayes, 145 noes, 18 voting present.

Representative Rainey has decided to acquiesce in the vote of the house against him, and is willing that some other democrats shall serve on the Ballinger-Pinchot committee. Representative Lloyd will ask to be relieved on the ground that the chairmanship of the democratic congressional committee keeps him too busy to serve.

CANNON HAS LOST HIS POWER, SAYS INSURGENT MURDOCK

Washington, January 22.—"Legislative autocracy is on the run. Its chief exponent, Speaker Cannon, has lost his power and every effort will be made to see that his legislative system goes with him," said insurgent Leader Murdock, of Kansas, commenting upon the action of the house today in naming the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee.

Commenting on the selection of the committee by the house, Mr. Murdock said: "The real issue in the matter of the selection of an investigating committee was whether the house could select a committee at all, and whether, when selected, it would be a better committee than one selected by the speaker."

"The house has proved that it can select its own committee and it has selected a committee on which all elements of the house and country are represented," whereas if the speaker had selected it, it would have been made up of his personal favorites. Committee members appointed by the speaker would have owed their places to him. The men now named owe their places to the house."

"This makes all the difference in the world, and it is the first substantial step in the direction of correcting present legislative procedure, and marks an epoch. Legislative autocracy is on the run. Its chief exponent, Joseph G. Cannon, has lost his power and every effort will be made to see that his legislative system goes with him."

DEMOCRATS HOLD CAUCUS ON THE BALLINGER MATTER

Washington, January 20.—At a democratic caucus held in the hall of the house immediately after adjournment of that body, Representative Rainey, of Illinois, who was denied a place on the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee today by the republicans, addressed his colleagues and withdrew his name from further consideration in that connection.

Representative James also asked to be relieved from service upon the committee, but on motion of Mr. Rainey, the caucus voted to ask Mr. James to continue.

Mr. Lloyd, having stated a desire to be left off the committee, the caucus expressed a vote of confidence in Mr. Lloyd and decided to meet again tomorrow night, at which the question of acting upon the latter's successor is to be taken up.

A motion was made by Representative Sisson, of Alabama, that Representative Clayton, of Alabama, chairman of the caucus, appoint a committee of democrats to consider the question of the vacancy on the investigating committee and to draw up an address to the country, was adopted by the narrow vote of 46 to 48.

Chairman Clayton announced that he would appoint the committee tomorrow.

Representative Poindexter, of Washington, the lone republican insurgent who voted on the floor of the house today in favor of accepting the democratic caucus nominees for the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation, issued a lengthy statement tonight, explaining his attitude.

"I do not think the republican party is responsible in any way for the democratic membership and it did not devote upon it to inquire into their qualifications," declared Mr. Poindexter.

"If the republican organization should have the right to select the democratic membership, the purpose of bipartisan representation would be defeated. The republican party would be responsible for the whole investigation if it named the entire committee."

Mr. Poindexter said the rules committee of the house had introduced the original resolution investigating the investigation, in such a manner as to constitute an attack upon the forestry service and prematurely brand "Secretary Ballinger as a pure and innocent man."

FEDERAL LAW FOR INSURANCE

So Taft Tells the Chiefs of Life Companies.

Only Recourse of Companies, Says the President, Is to Seek Common Action by the States. Insurance Men Discuss Health Problems.

Washington, January 20.—President Taft today, addressing the annual meeting of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, held out no hope for the enactment of a federal law to govern the companies, and advised the executive officers to bend their efforts to secure uniform legislation in the states.

"You are here to secure uniformity in insurance legislation throughout the country," said the president. "You are very sorry that the United States may not find in the constitution the right to render uniform the insurance business throughout this country. Certainly the supreme court seems to have settled that question. And your only recourse, therefore, is to secure such common action by the states that the result will be a single federal act controlling the business."

Model Law for District.

"The only function that the United States can perform is to pass a model law in the District of Columbia, and there show to the world what congress, aided possibly by a scientific commission, shall believe to be the best kind of an insurance law. I shall be very glad, insofar as any power lies in me, to encourage such action."

"I have been on the bench, and I have ruled that men must read their policies to know what they contain in order to have an understanding of what the contract is, and I am conscious of never having read any of the policies which have been taken out because I trusted the man who explained to me. But congress, by a model law, can effect a very great purpose, and if there is anything I can legitimately do to contribute to your object, I shall be very glad to do it."

In the president's audience were a dozen or more governors of states and nearly 200 leaders of the life insurance business in the United States.

For Public Health.

The association today discussed plans for the conservation of public health and measures which may be taken in the hope of lengthening the span of life. Dr. Walter Wyman, surgeon general of the United States public health and marine hospital service; Dr. J. N. Rosenau, of the Harvard Medical College, and others spoke on the subject.

Conservation of the health of policyholders is now so paramount an issue with the life insurance companies that one of the largest of them is planning a sanitarium for its policyholders.

Alfred Hurrell, counsel for the insurance department of New York; E. B. Currier, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and others addressed the association on the subjects of uniform life insurance legislation and amalgamation of companies.

STUDENTS OF EMORY TO INVADE ATLANTA

Seniors Will Hold Class Banquet Here on February 7.

Emory College, Oxford, January 20.—(Special.)—Emory's senior class is preparing for its annual invasion of the Gate City, and has set February 7 as the date on which to hold the annual class banquet at one of the Atlanta hotels. This means that on that day practically about 75 per cent of Emory's student body and many of the faculty will be in Atlanta, for it is then that the chapters of the seven fraternities located here will accommodate the seniors and have their annual chapter photographs made. The seniors will also have their pictures taken for the class group.

This invasion of the class of 1910 will be one of the most elaborate that an Emory class has ever held.

Dr. F. N. Duncan, football coach of the class, has been invited to be the guest of honor at the banquet. Edgar G. Kenyon, of Albany, dust of the class will preside as toastmaster, and the following speakers have been selected for the occasion:

G. E. Mackay, of Belfast, Ireland, pastor of Druid Hills Methodist Church, Atlanta, "Dreams of Love."

H. G. Barnett, of Ocala, Fla., "Life's Pathway."

Pension Money Stolen.

Griffin, Ga., January 20.—(Special.) J. W. McMillan, a young white man, was arrested here today charged with highway robbery. He has been identified by C. R. Young Moore came to Griffin to get his father's pension money, and was at the depot to board a train for his home when the robbery occurred. The stolen money has not been recovered.

WITH SANDBAG AND REVOLVER

Man Mortally Wounds a New York Jeweler.

New York, January 20.—Frederick Boettcher, a Brooklyn jeweler, was sandbagged and fatally shot in his store late this afternoon by an unknown man, who ended his life by taking a capsule of carbolic acid before he could be locked up.

Boettcher identified the suicide as a man who came to his store not long ago and looked at some diamond rings. It was on this plea that the stranger entered today, presumably with the intent of robbery. When the jeweler started to come from behind the counter the stranger pulled a chamouis bag, filled with sand and shot, from his coat pocket and struck him a crushing blow on the head. As Boettcher reeled the man fired a shot at him, which took effect behind the jeweler's left ear.

The shot brought Mrs. Boettcher down from her apartments over the store and the man fled, leaving one revolver in the store and throwing another away as he ran along the street. Hard pressed by the police, who had been attracted by Mrs. Boettcher's screams, the would-be robber was seen to raise his hand to his lips and swallow hastily. In a moment more he was under arrest, and though apparently suffering, he walked back to the store where Boettcher identified him as his assailant.

The prisoner was taken to the police station and preparations were begun to search him. He collapsed and died before medical assistance could be summoned. Examination by a surgeon later showed beyond doubt that he had swallowed carbolic acid in his hand, which took effect behind the jeweler's left ear.

Nothing was found on the man to indicate his identity. His attempt at robbery was a complete failure.

So Declare Nebraska Republicans in Convention.

Lincoln, Neb., January 20.—Several hundred "insurgents," Nebraska Republicans, representing, they say, the militant section of the party in Nebraska, held a rally in Lincoln tonight, inspired originally by opposition to the resolution of United States Senator Burkett, the convention took no action against the senator, and the speeches contained only mild criticisms of him.

This being the case of 1910 will be one of the most elaborate that an Emory class has ever held.

Dr. F. N. Duncan, football coach of the class, has been invited to be the guest of honor at the banquet. Edgar G. Kenyon, of Albany, dust of the class will preside as toastmaster, and the following speakers have been selected for the occasion:

Free Trade or Protection?

Premier Asquith, at Fifehead, declared that one thing was certain, the great industrial centers would not give to the new parliament any mandate or authority to interfere with the system of free trade. Except in a few isolated areas, like Birmingham and Liverpool, all had given an emphatic verdict in favor of free trade.

The secretary of the Tariff Reform League issued a proclamation tonight, saying:

"Today's Unionist victories conclusively prove that free trade is losing its hold on the country. We attribute our success in the artisan district, not to free trade, but to the alliance of the socialist party with the radicals. In a straight contest between tariff reform and the present system, tariff reform would triumph. The political fight of the future will be between tariff reform and socialism."

GOOD DEAL OF HUMBUNG ABOUT THIS HOOK WORM

New Orleans, January 20.—Dr. Joseph A. Dana, house surgeon of the Charity hospital at New Orleans, thinks there is a good deal of humbug about the hook worm.

"The very fact that Rockefeller gave a million dollars to help stamp out the hook worm has added much to the talk of the disease. Candidly, I think much of this talk is poppy-cock."

Such was the opinion rendered by Dr. Dana here today. "An Italian physician," continued Dr. Dana, "recently told me that the reports of the prevalence of this disease had the effect of scaring Europeans away from the South."

WALL STREET SMASH

Firm of Roberts, Hall & Criss Goes Under.

Cris Handed the Hocking Coal Deal and Was Prostrated by Collapse of the Stock—The Liabilities of the Firm About $3,000,000.

New York, January 20.—(Special.)—The firm of Roberts, Hall & Criss, of New York and Cincinnati, was today suspended as members of the New York Stock Exchange following the two failures yesterday brought about by the collapse of the Columbus and Hocking Coal and Iron pool. Hugh F. Criss was the board member of the firm, and had charge of the Hocking pool on the exchange. He estimates the liabilities of the firm at $3,000,000.

The feeling among members of the exchange is that Criss has been made to bear more than his share of the blame, and that all the participants ought to be punished for their part in the episode.

The affairs of all three firms involved—J. M. Criss, La. Thompson, Haskins & Co., which suspended yesterday—as well as Roberts, Hall & Criss, are now being investigated by the committee on insolvencies of the exchange. But it is not unlikely that the situation may get beyond the jurisdiction of this committee, necessitating the appointment of a special committee with plenary power, such as was done in the Rock Island case not long ago.

In announcing the failure of Roberts, Hall & Criss, the president of the exchange said that there were peculiar circumstances which call for rigid investigation. These circumstances, as Criss' declarations indicate, imply bad faith on the part of other members of the so-called pool. A petition to remove the stock of the Columbus and Hocking Coal and Iron Company from the list on the stock exchange is said to be under consideration.

MERGER OF THE MINERS TO FIGHT THE TRUSTS

Meyer urged the unionization of the coal and metal miners of both North and South combine their forces, it will be impossible to carry through the projected attack upon the United States Steel Corporation.

The American Excess Of Good Living
The Principal Cause of the Great Prevalence of Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

A Trial Package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Sent Free.
Man inherits every part of the globe where external influences can be successfully resisted. Food is an important element in effecting this, and nature has provided for it accordingly. The colder the climate, the more animal food and city substances are required; the warmer a preponderance of vegetables and fruits is necessary in one's diet.

The whole blubber of the food, Eskimo, and the rice of the nude African, are as much necessities of locality, as matters of choice. The same indications exist in civilization. Thus, the diet in America and England is essentially different from that in Italy, Spain and Egypt.

The effects of universal communication are nowhere more obvious than on the luxurious table. To furnish the refined cuisine, all climates, both sea and land, are laid under contribution, and the stomach is expected to digest, without assistance, an excessive amount of food at the table, have obtained speedy and permanent relief by means of a simple expedient—that of using one or two of STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS after each meal, or whenever any of the well-known symptoms of indigestion are present.

These powerful digestive tablets contain every element that exists in the stomach to digest the food, and in the exact proportion as found therein. They take the place of the natural digestive juices when the latter are deficient in quality or quantity, and to their work for them, removing the indigestion by digesting the food, and restoring, strengthening and purifying the digestive tract.

There is no other digestive remedy on the market which has been found equal to Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, none which is so rapidly and powerfully efficient, or which removes discomfort, banishes stomach-pain, and relieves and cures all of the symptoms of dyspepsia and indigestion in so thorough and pleasant a manner as these marvelous little tablets, a single grain of which is capable of digesting 1,000 grains of any and every kind of food.

Persons who are annoyed with stomach troubles of any kind should use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which will remove such troubles in a very short time. Purchase a box from your druggist, and send us name and address for free sample. Address: Dr. J. C. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

COOPERATION URGED OF FRUIT GROWERS

Manager Fleming Addresses Farmers.

Of Particular Interest Was Address of Manager of Georgia Fruit Exchange Before Farmers' Conference at Athens.

Athens, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—Of general and particular interest at the Conference of Farmers and Farmers' Wives, now in session at the State College of Agriculture, today, was the address of Manager I. M. Fleming, of the Georgia Fruit Exchange, with headquarters in Atlanta, on "Cooperation and the Georgia Fruit Exchange."

In part Manager Fleming said: "Cooperation among all the growers could bring about conditions equal to the one-man ownership. I have heard several very prominent business men say that if the farmers of the South could get together on similar plans to those of the Georgia Fruit Exchange, the cotton problem could be solved. Confidence is the first stone in the foundation of cooperation. Cooperative features of the exchange are the most attractive features of the exchange, and was brought about by several controlling reasons; prominent among them was the dishonesty of a certain class in the commission men, who have brought almost the entire commission trade into disrepute."

"The plan of the exchange is, that through the central office, information is gotten daily by wire, of all the markets and having the control of all the cars of its members each day, we are in position to so distribute the output as to avoid glutted markets in one place and empty markets in others. One of the strongest and most attractive features of the exchange was its ability to induce the trade to come to Georgia and buy f.o.b. cars at the shipping point."

"We selected a limited number of house in each market to act as selling agents, and the houses not selected and who had previously made a specialty of Georgia peaches, were forced to come down and buy, unless he could get his fruit from the man who was not a member, and right here I want to point out that only the man who does not refuse to cooperate. If he were a member, the trade would know they would have to buy his fruit if they wanted it, but not being a member he leaves the gate open to the solicitation of the commission men, who is always the same, and some men would feel justified, under the circumstances, in getting something for nothing. It is the duty of every man to assist in these cooperative movements."

"Another striking illustration of what can be done by cooperation is the plan of income to the exchange to carry on expenses. A large majority of the growers have agreed to pay a cent commission for having his fruit sold. We have reduced this to five cents, and the commission houses, who receive a part of this 5 per cent, sufficient to pay the expenses of the exchange, and practically, the organization is no expense to them, being self-sustained, and handling the crop on a cheaper basis, with the benefits of a supervision over the transportation and sale of his fruit."

SHOE DEALERS GET LOWER RATE

Local Dealers Fought Before Interstate Commerce Commission.

Washington, January 20.—On less than carload shipments of boots and shoes from Boston and New York by the rail and water route to Atlanta, Ga., the interstate commerce commission decided today that the rate of $1.05 a hundred pounds was excessive, and ordered that it be made 95 cents a hundred pounds, beginning April 1.

This is a decisive victory for the Atlanta boot and shoe dealers, and is the result of a long-standing fight. When the boot and shoe convention met in Atlanta in 1904 the rate of $1.05 a hundred pounds was fixed, but a special rate of 85 cents a hundred was allowed on carload lots. This rate of 85 cents soon got to be a regular quantity rate. The railroads decided that this was entirely too low, and gave notice that the old rate of $1.05 would be resumed. The Atlanta dealers then filed a bill of injunction in the federal court.

The injunction was granted pending a hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the above decision was rendered by them yesterday.

This will mean the saving of thousands of dollars for the Atlanta merchants and may mean a reduction in the price of shoes.

JOHNSON IS LOCKED IN A PRISON CELL

Negro Pugilist Is Accused of Felonious Assault.

New York, January 20.—"Jack" Johnson, the champion negro pugilist, was arrested in New York tonight, charged with felonious assault, and at midnight the prospects were that he would have to remain in a cell at police headquarters until morning. Felony cases are not taken to the night court, and his release could only be brought about by getting a police magistrate out of bed to accept bail.

George Little, the negro's manager, scurried away from police headquarters to get busy, while Johnson, showing every tooth in his head, despite his predicament, was locked up. Nathan Pinder, a black friend of the fighter, is the accuser. He and Johnson got into a fight while sitting in a cafe yesterday.

At headquarters the fighter admitted that he had struck his old friend, and said that his only regret was that he hadn't hit him harder. Pinder was swathed in bandages.

Anna Shaw, the national president.

UNWRITTEN LAW PLEA OF MISZ

Shoots Man He Claims Attacked Daughter.

Tom Miz, of Near Alpharetta, Ga., Shoots and Instantly Kills Nat Walker and Fatally Wounds John Walker.

Alpharetta, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—Tom Miz, a farmer, forty-eight years of age, this afternoon shot and killed Nat Walker, aged fifty-eight, a farmer and neighbor, and fatally wounded John Walker, Nat Walker's son.

The two Walkers were hunting in the field when they were approached by Miz, who opened fire with a pistol, shooting both before they could defend themselves. They were armed with shotguns.

Miz claims that young Walker had attacked his daughter and when he sought revenge he was forced to shoot Walker's father in self-defense.

Miz surrendered to the sheriff.

FIRST DAY IN PRISON WAS EASY FOR WALSH

Banker Passed Most of the Time Reading and Learning the Rules.

Leavenworth, Kan., January 20.—After an easy day spent mostly in reading and learning prison rules, John R. Walsh, the Chicago banker, who yesterday began serving a five-year sentence at the federal prison for misapplication of funds of the Chicago National Bank, retired early tonight.

The ex-banker will probably be assigned to a task in the prison library next Monday.

Although Mr. Walsh attempted to close his business affairs, little details are bound to arise that will require his attention. On account of this, Warden R. W. McClaughray has decided to grant him special dispensation, whereby he can write more letters than the prison regulations ordinarily permit.

BLOW TO LOCAL OPTION Given by President Pro Tem. of Kentucky Senate.

Frankfort, Ky., January 20.—The county until local option extension bill, probably the most important bill to come before the present legislature, and by the passage of which it is hoped to extend prohibition in the state, received what probably will prove a death blow in the senate today, when President Pro Tem. Linn referred the bill to the committee on religion and morals. Members of this committee are opposed to the bill and report unfavorably on it. It is believed.

If this happens a two-thirds vote will be required to bring the bill from the senate and friends of the bill admit they cannot control so large a vote. The house is strongly in favor of the bill.

DROPPED DEAD WHILE DRIVING

H. R. Hunnicutt, of East Point, Succumbs to Heart Failure.

While driving a wagon on Ponce de Leon avenue near the park, H. R. Hunnicutt, a carpenter who lived at East Point, dropped from his seat dead, yesterday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock.

The cause is thought to have been heart failure.

Hunnicutt was engaged, along with several others, in building a new house on Ponce de Leon avenue. None of his fellow workmen had heard him complain. He had gotten into the wagon in order to drive around in rear of the house for another load of lumber, but the horse had only gone a few steps when he fell.

When examined he was quite dead. The Greenberg, Bond & Bloomfield ambulance raced to the scene, but were only able to take back a corpse. An inquest will be held today.

Hunnicutt is survived by a wife and several children. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

MOTHER AND BABY ROASTED TO CRISP

Near Them Lay Two-Year-Old Girl Suffocated by Smoke.

Charlotte, N. C., January 20.—Roasted to a crisp, the bodies of Mrs. J. A. Mullis and her three-week-old infant were discovered in the fireplace of the woman's home in the Daniels Mill settlement, near Lincolnton, late this afternoon by a grocery salesman. A few feet away lay the two-year-old girl suffocated by the smoke from her mother's garments. She may recover.

Mrs. Mullis was subject to fainting spells, and it is presumed that while nursing her baby she swooned and fell over against the grate.

TECH GLEE CLUB WILL PERFORM SATURDAY

The George Tech Glee Club, comprising a chorus double quartet, mandolin club and orchestra, besides a number of excellent soloists, will give its initial performance in the college chapel Saturday evening at 8:15 o'clock.

The club has returned a number of last year's men, which, together with the new talent which has developed, make up a very useful aggregation. Under the direction of Frank M. Coffin the boys have reached a high efficiency, and sing with harmonious voices, as well as with most artistic shading.

The program will include "The Bull Dog," "The Spanish Student," "The New Co-Ed," "Abdullah Bul Bulawee," and many other well-known college selections, besides others of a more classical nature.

The Mandolin Club will be right there "with the goods," too, and will "pump-pump" away on some very happy strains.

After the concert there will be a dance in the college gymnasium.

During the month of February the club, which numbers about forty men in all, will take a trip to the neighboring towns of Rome, Athens, Augusta, Newnan and LaGrange.

MRS. NATHAN FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Claims Cruel Treatment and Desertion—Asks Custody of Children.

Alleging cruel, inhuman treatment, neglect and non-support, Mrs. Nathan has brought suit against Morris Nathan, the baker, for total divorce. Mrs. Nathan is represented by Attorney John E. McClelland.

Mrs. Nathan states that she and her husband were married on September 21, 1899, but that since September 1, 1909, they have not been living together as man and wife. Though separated, they lived under the same roof, in order to keep up appearances for the sake of their children.

Mrs. Nathan charges that her husband often struck her and called her the vilest of names, but that she endured that patiently. She also charges that he would force her to act as clerk in the bakery store and would come into the house and demand money, pocket all the money from the drawer, and then look her up in the store while he went down town and spent the proceeds in riotous living.

Continuing, the petitioner states that when the business got in a bad way through his negligence, instead of paying strict attention to his profits in order that he might satisfy his many creditors, that he made a lot of bread, sold it at a sacrifice and then wasted the money.

On January 1, 1910, she charges, he took a sum of money and left town. Afterwards he wrote her a note stating that he would be back soon, but he did not return, petitioner states, and that in her opinion that he has no such intention.

Therefore, the petitioner prays that in view of all these facts, that she be granted a total divorce, the custody of her three children—Solomon, Jacob and Henry—temporary alimony to meet current expenses and such permanent alimony as the court shall think proper.

This is the culminating blow in the affairs of the baker. He left town through his accounts all away and his business in the hands of a trustee.

The bakery, however, will be run as usual. Nathan's whereabouts are unknown.

New Orleans, January 20.—"I have no faith in a negro who sits around and complains in a busy world like this," declared Bishop E. W. Lampton, in calling to order the Louisiana conference of the African Methodist church here last night. "Complaints and walling never yet made a race, and never will," continued Bishop Lampton. "Our people must do something more than talk. Reach the loafers of the race, and make them something. Industry and honesty will help the negro more than a thousand men going around and boasting as race leaders, and inciting a spirit of strife between the races."

GOTCH SAYS JEFFRIES WILL DEFEAT JOHNSON

The Wrestler Thinks White Man Is Stronger Than Negro.

New York, January 20.—Frank Gotch, the world's wrestling champion, declares that Jeffries will outlast Johnson in their battle next July, and will win easily in a long go.

"Johnson's defensive style of fighting will prove his undoing," said Gotch in a statement given out here today. "Jeff's endurance is as good as it ever was. The other day we wrestled for half an hour, and he finished fully as strong as I did. I was able to pin him down but once. This should show how great is his strength, because he knows little of the wrestling game."

"Two months ago I was one of the doubters. But I have grown to know that Jeffries is honest and determined and is working as hard as any man can to get into shape. And he is getting into shape so rapidly that it is surprising even his best friends."

SUMMER BASEBALL FOR COLLEGE BOYS

Advocated by Branch Rickey, Coach at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Ann Arbor, Mich., January 20.—"I can hardly see the justice of barring men from participating in college athletics when they have played professional baseball, while many of the debaters on university teams are men who have taken no part in the lecture platform or in the pulpit," declared Branch Rickey, former major league player and newly hired coach for the University of Michigan team.

"I believe a successful system could be devised whereby college students could play baseball during the summer months, earn money to help them through the winter and at the same time retain the standing as amateurs. Every man who works with university teams should, above all, be a bona fide student. That is the primary requirement. The man who is out of college athletics just because they take a legitimate way to carry them through the college year."

Pittsburg Signs Bridges.
Philadelphia, January 20.—Edward Bridges, a catcher, has been signed by the Pittsburgh ball club. Bridges is the backstop who was purchased from the North Amsterdam team in the Connecticut League last August.

Gleason Stays With Phillies.
Philadelphia, January 20.—"After all, Gleason will be found with the Philadelphia Nationals again next season. On second thought, the club decided that Gleason would be a good man to retain. John Bates, who is scheduled to play left field, Magee being switched to center, would be held by the figures named in his contract, and returned the document to Fogel unsigned."

JACK ROBINSON
FARNS DECISION
Outpointed Al Christensen at the Monroe Athletic Club.

Just as many people as could comfortably get into the Monroe Athletic Club squeezed in last night, and witnessed the classic exhibition of the fistic art that Atlanta pugilists lovers have yet been offered.

It was classy from the opening round of the first preliminary to the closing of the ten-round mill between Al Christensen and Jack Robinson, and the array of fast fans who braved falling rain, muddy streets and threatening storms marched out about 10:30 o'clock, feeling fully repaid for anything they may have spent in the way of effort, coin, enthusiasm, lost shoe shines and wear and tear on umbrellas.

His hard to say whether Jack Robinson, who was awarded the decision in the main bout of the evening, or George Monroe, the main source of the club, was the real star—or, rather, the favorite—each shared in the applause of the occasion.

But to the ceremonies: There were many who picked Christensen to win in five rounds or less, and as he shook hands with the lanky one from New York, it looked that the picking was easy. Al stacked up fully thirty pounds heavier, heftier in arm and limb, and looking in the pink of condition. Jack, lanky, rangy, a miniaturist beside his opponent, didn't look like any giant killer.

But the appearances was as far as the dope went. As soon as the boxing began, it was evident that the New Yorker had the edge. The powerful swings of the powerful Atlantian wasted their strength on the desert air, whereas the short-arm jabs of the New Yorker spent their force on the nose, chin and the wind of Al.

Who seemed there for that purpose. In only two of the ten rounds did the heavier Christensen have the better of the argument—one round was an even break—and in the other six, Robinson outpointed, outboxed and outlit his antagonist. On scientific boxing, Monroe awarded the decision to Robinson—a decision which met with the almost unanimous approval and endorsement of the large crowd.

A couple of lively preliminaries led up to the main bout of the evening. The three events together constituted an occasion of rare enjoyment to the fistic art, and solidified the club and George Monroe with Atlanta sport lovers—if either needed any more solidify than they had already gained.

It was a great night for great bouts, even if the mud did "squash" and the rain did fall.

AT TAMPA.

PHILLIES TRADE TWO PITCHERS TO THE REDS

The deal involves the trading of four pitchers, Philadelphia getting Robert Ewing and James Brennan in return for Frank Corridon and Harry Covaleski.

Canada to Bar Asiatics.
Ottawa, Ontario, January 20.—In an order to restrict the immigration of Asiatics into Canada, a general immigration measure was presented to the house by Frank Oliver, minister of the interior, yesterday. One of the provisions of the bill is that immigrants must have $200 with them upon arrival in this country.

SAVANNAH MOGULS
LOOKING FOR A PARK
South Atlantic League Team Has No Grounds to Play On.

Savannah, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—If anyone has seen a stray baseball park at him report at once to the Savannah Baseball Club and receive a reward, amount not mentioned. Officers of the club are conducting a still hunt for a lot, and are doing their best to slip upon a likely looking spot unobserved, and nab it and stake it down for a team for 1910.

The city has made it impossible for the 1909 lot to be used. Several new sites are said to be in sight. They are in the southern section of the city, far out, but in easy distance from the car lines.

There was a rumor, which is denied by the source from which—as the source claims—it emanated, that Charleston might corral the local franchise, all because the Savannah team wouldn't have a place to play. However, it is not believed that there is any chance for Charleston to rejoice at Savannah's expense this year.

Options, it is understood, are held on one or more highly recommended lots, and though defects have been found in nearly every place offered, all but minor ones can be eliminated, and it is probable that one of those now under observation will be signed up.

It is expected that a lot not very far from the start and finish of the Grand Prize auto race will bear the whack-off on the horsehide this season. That's the dope at present, anyway.

SUTTON'S BOWLERS WIN THREE GAMES
In the third match of the fourth round of the bowling tournament at the Atlanta Athletic Club, the team captained by Sutton won all three of the games from the team captained by Williams.

The final match of the fourth round will be played tonight. The scores are:
Sutton, 177 204 136
Williams, 141 149 147
Williamham, 114 157 120

SHERIFF USES AUTO IN RAID ON GAMBLERS

All Hot Springs Official Found Was Box of Playing Cards.

Hot Springs, Ark., January 20.—Using an automobile in order to facilitate speed in his junket from the city, Sheriff H. H. Hays, tonight raided the gambling houses of the lower order, and made the rounds before information of his purpose spread generally. Sheriff Hays, in company with four prominent citizens, utilized as aides, tonight carried out a circuit court order which called for the confiscation and burning of all gambling paraphernalia found in the city.

The orders had been issued after an impassioned speech in court by J. B. Wood, reform leader, and candidate for the office of prosecuting attorney, who charged that local officers did not properly serve orders of the court when gambling was involved. The sheriff did not find a gambling house open, and the net result of the raid was a box of used playing cards, which will be submitted to the court to be burned tomorrow.

SOUTHERN PLANNING TO DOUBLE-TRACK ROAD

From Armour to Gainesville, According to Well-Established Rumor.

Gainesville, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—It is understood that the Southern Railway contemplates at an early date the double-tracking of its road from Armour to Gainesville. It cannot be stated positively that this is true, for none of the higher officials of the road have publicly said so, but from a man who is supposed to know the information is secured.

The double-tracking of the Southern Railway from this city to Atlanta would be a great thing, not only for Gainesville and its people, but also for the road. In fact, it is believed that the traffic from Gainesville to Atlanta has grown so heavy that it is absolutely essential that the road be double-tracked. Trains now run over this part of the road every few minutes and the need of an additional track is very great.

TWO NEW CANDIDATES FOR JOB AT STOCKADE

Two more candidates, T. B. Lanford, of the detective department, and R. A. Broyles, Jr., son of the well-known grocer, are in the field for appointment as superintendent of the city stockade.

Mr. Lanford stated yesterday that he is a candidate for the place provided by the city council. He will not oppose Mr. Smith. Mr. Lanford has been a member of the police force for nearly 20 years and has much experience in handling prisoners.

It is understood that Mr. Broyles is an active candidate for the position and he has a number of friends who are supporting him.

The police committee of council which has charge of the appointment will meet at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon for the purpose of selecting a man for the place, to be approved by council at the next meeting.

He Spent $103,250 in Race.
Boston, January 20.—It cost James J. Storrow $103,250 to make the fight for mayor, according to his sworn statement filed yesterday. The expenditure is $70,000 greater than ever before embodied in a similar statement of a candidate for office in this city. The statement does not show what the money was spent.

Bail for Walter Cohen.
Philadelphia, January 20.—Counsel for Ferdinand Cohen, the waiter who is accused of kidnapping Robert Johnson, the heiress, appeared in criminal court today, and after an argument of nearly two hours succeeded in having bail fixed for Cohen in the sum of $2,000.

CURTIS RACES WITH PAULHAN
And the American Wins by Half a Lap.

Paulhan Has Won Over $15,000 in Prizes and Has Broken the World's Records—Curtis Has Won Less Than $5,000 and Has Broken No Records.

Los Angeles, January 20.—As dusk gathered tonight, four flying machines that had been circling in the air, sailed to earth. The aviators walked to their tents, the great crowd filed down the roadway and America's first international aviation meet was over.

Few knew that one had been near death in those last few minutes. Charles K. Hamilton was returning from a 15-mile flight toward the ocean and while still a mile from the aviation field, the crank shaft of his machine snapped. No one in the crowd noticed anything wrong. Hamilton shut off his engine and so leveled and away he glided until he was wafted gently down. It was the best piece of emergency handling of a machine that has been seen at the meet.

Curtis and Paulhan, rivals of the meet, furnished the excitement of the evening. They were both flying when it was seen that a great race was on—the first real race of the ten days.

The two aeroplanes, full speed on, came over the grandstand and the crowd of spectators. The Frenchman for a few seconds held his own, then Curtis, in his American machine, forged ahead a length and finally, by half a lap.

The Curtis machine has won all the prizes for speed, quick starts, perfect landings and those events where a light, swift machine showed best.

Paulhan has won all the cross-country, passenger-carrying and endurance tests, having a heavier, sturdier machine, and an engine which he trusts absolutely. Paulhan has taken more than $15,000 in prizes, and has broken world records for altitude and cross-country flights alone and with a passenger.

Curtis, on the other hand, has broken world records, and probably will take less than $5,000 in prizes.

The Prizes Won.
The prizes won during the aviation meet follow:
Height—First, $3,000, Louis Paulhan, 4,165 feet; second, $2,000, Charles K. Hamilton, 3,933 feet; third, $500, Glenn H. Curtis; no official height taken.
Endurance and Time—First, $2,000, Louis Paulhan, 75.77 miles, 1:38:32; second, $2,000, Charles K. Hamilton, 19.44 miles, 49:00; third, $500, Glenn H. Curtis, 16.11 miles, 30:24.35.
Speed, Ten Miles—First, $3,000, Glenn H. Curtis, 16.11 miles, 23:43.85; second, $2,000, Louis Paulhan, 16.11 miles, 24:39.25; third, $500, Charles K. Hamilton, 16.11 miles, 30:24.35.
Three Laps, With Passenger—First, $1,000, Louis Paulhan, 4.31 miles, 1:18:32; second, $500, Charles K. Hamilton, 4.31 miles, 1:18:32; third, $500, Charles K. Hamilton, 4.31 miles, 1:18:32.
Quickest Start—First, $250, Glenn H. Curtis, 98 feet.
Hardest Landing in Square, $250, Charles E. Willard won; score perfect.
Cross-Country, $10,000—Paulhan won.
The following are records for the course, also made:
Speed—One lap, 2:12, Glenn H. Curtis.
Shortest time in rising, 6:25 seconds, Glenn H. Curtis.
Dirigibles, one lap, 4:57-4:5, Lincoln Beachey.

C., January 20.—The Montreal Eastern League Baseball club will do its spring training in Columbia, according to a telegram received by the president of the local club from Manager Edward Barrow of the Montreal club. MARIST CADETS WILL GIVE MINSTREL SHOW Athletic Feature Adds Interest to Performance at Grand Opera House.

Something in the shape of a rivalry seems to be developing between the athletic and minstrel performers of Marist College. The first part of the program, to be rendered next Thursday night at the Grand, is to consist of an amateur minstrel show.

The boys who are to take part in this have been putting a steady result in the preparation of their act locally. The usual features of such entertainments, songs, jokes, choruses, etc., are advertised. This is rather a departure in procedure for Marist, as hitherto the college has put on the stage only such heavy tragedies as Pizzaro, Carrara, etc. It remains to be seen whether nonsense is as much in the Marist line as declamation.

The number of people interested in the college "affair" is very creditable. The first part of the program, to be rendered next Thursday night at the Grand, is to consist of an amateur minstrel show.

MERCER ADDRESSES ATHENS COLLEGIANS

Warm Reception Given Noted College Worker.

Famous Georgian Is on Three Days' Visit to University of Georgia—Busy Program Is Arranged.

Athens, Ga., January 20.—(Special.) E. C. Mercer, the noted college worker, who, with Mr. Farmer, has only recently completed a campaign through the leading colleges of the North and East, is in the city for a five-day stay with the University of Georgia students, spoke yesterday to a mass meeting of the collegians at the university chapel, and was given a most enthusiastic reception by the members of the student body.

Mr. Mercer is a Georgian, hailing from Savannah. During the afternoon, Mr. Mercer lunched with the members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at their chapter house, and talked to the collegians at an informal meeting. At night he talked to the men who stay in new college, in the faculty room.

His program today was as follows:
10 a. m.—Private interviews with the officers of the Y. M. C. A. at the rooms in Phi Kappa hall.

2 p. m.—Lunch and talk with the members of the Chi Psi fraternity at their chapter house.

7 p. m.—Talk to the men of Old college in the faculty room.

Suit Won't Be Dropped.

Washington, January 20.—It was stated authoritatively today that the government suit for the dissolution of the merger of the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific railroads will not be dropped. Attorney General Wickersham has found nothing so far in his investigation of the representations from the other side to warrant such action.

Lively Sheriff's Race Is On.

Macon, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—Former Sheriff and Chief of Police Sam Wescott, James R. Hicks and Lane Mullally are a trio formed for the office of sheriff for the coming primary against Sheriff George Robertson and Harry Robert. Both the present incumbent and his rivals are working hard already, and this contest promises much interest before the decision is reached.

WILL MAKE FIGHT ON THE HOUSE FLY

Committee Plans to Scatter Literature Over the State.

One of the important meetings held in Atlanta during the Southern Health Conference, was that of the executive members of the fly committee of the Georgia Medical Association, Dr. J. G. Dean, president; Dawson, Ga.; Dr. J. W. Palmer, secretary; Alley, Ga. The other members of the committee are Dr. V. H. Bassett, Savannah, Ga.; J. E. Paulin, Atlanta, and Dr. C. M. Curtis, College Park, Ga. Besides the executive committee, there is a sub-committee consisting of one physician in each county of the state.

The object of this meeting was to plan and put in operation plans to place before the people of the state the dangers and evils of the house fly and how to steer clear of them. Each county's public schools and colleges will be given public lectures by the members of the committee. Also distributing circulars and posters to each family in each county explaining and demonstrating facts about the house fly.

By the time the Georgia Medical Association meets in Athens, this committee, as a whole, consisting of 150 members, will have given public lectures to all the public schools in the state, besides delivering literature to every family in the state.

MAY ACT TODAY ON SCHEDULES

Railroad Commission Has Been Promised Report
From Roads.

It is possible the railroad commission may reach some conclusion today with regard to the matter of the joint publication of schedules of arrivals and departures by the railroads entering Atlanta. If not today, it will at least be reached for action at next week's meeting.

The commission has received letters from Chairman C. A. Wickersham, of the board of control of the Terminal station, and Chairman C. E. Harman, of the Union station board, in which they stated, in effect, that they had taken the matter up with other railroads and had heard definitely from all but one or two of them.

The commission then telephoned Chairman Wickersham yesterday morning and asked him when he would be ready to make a final report as to what the roads had determined to do. His reply was that he would be able to report today.

If that reply is satisfactory to the commission and the roads agree to make joint publication of their schedules, regularity of order will be adopted. But if the roads do not reach an agreement to that end, it is believed the commission, acting under Judge Hines' opinion to the effect that it has the authority, will issue an order requiring such service in this respect as it feels the public is entitled to.

Barnesville Blues Inspected.

Barnesville, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—The Barnesville Blues were given their annual inspection Wednesday night by Major F. L. Palmer. The inspection was highly satisfactory to the officers of the company, and they were complimented on their showing. The officers of the company are Ben Franklin, captain, and Willis Smith, first lieutenant. The headquarters of the company are at the headquarters of the Second Georgia and hospital department of the regiment were also inspected. Barnesville is headquarters of the departments of the Second Georgia, by virtue of the fact that this is the place of residence of Ed Howard, captain-quartermaster, and Dr. C. H. Willis, head of the hospital corps, with the rank of major. These departments passed highly satisfactory examinations.

DELAYED TRAINS CAUSE OF INQUIRY

Commission Will Look Into Situation Now About Intolerable.

The railroad commission had up for preliminary discussion yesterday the subject of delayed trains, reports of which are now becoming more frequent every day.

It is understood, however, that no definite plans were outlined owing to the fact that there was not a full board present.

It is said to be the commission's determination to investigate the question, and it is not unlikely that some order in this connection will be issued at its meeting next week.

The reports of delays are becoming more and more frequent; there is no section of the state but is a sufferer from the failure of the railroads to run their trains on time.

Elaborate preparations were made for the commission through the newspapers and by personal complaint, and it is not questioned that the commission has power to deal with the situation. Where through trains are involved it is said the commission has power to require a railroad, after waiting a reasonable time, to put on a special train to take care of its local traffic.

There is every indication that the state is becoming stirred up over the situation more than ever before.

Georgians feel that they are at least entitled to reasonable service, and they are everywhere that they are not getting it.

Exercises at Lavonia.

Lavonia, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—The Lavonia Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy met Tuesday afternoon in special meeting to commemorate the anniversary of the birth of Robert E. Lee.

Him by All Saints' Church.

Charleston, S. C., January 20.—(Special.)—Rev. W. W. Memminger announced today that he has decided to accept the call tendered to him by All Saints' Episcopal church, at Atlanta. He has communicated his resignation to the vestry of St. Paul's church, but the time for it to take effect has not been agreed upon. He is thought he will leave in two weeks.

The Rev. Willis Wilkinson Memminger was born in Tampa, Fla., but was raised in Charleston, S. C. He received his education at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn. After being made a deacon of the Episcopal church he had charge of the church at Beaufort, S. C., and accepted the call to St. Paul's church, Charleston, S. C., while still a deacon. He commenced his ministry in this city in December, 1896, and afterward was ordained a priest. Mr. Memminger is at present the rector of St. Paul's church. His work here has been productive of much good and St. Paul's church has prospered under his ministry. He is one of the most popular young ministers of the city and one of its strongest pulpits orators.

FEAR LYNCHING OF WHITE MEN

Brothers Are Charged With Having Assaulted Young Girl.

Decatur, Ala., January 20.—Clint and Delza Lang, brothers, who are alleged to have assaulted and outraged a 16-year-old girl near Valermosa Springs, this county, yesterday, secured a yawl and are making their way down the Tennessee river.

Deputies and posses of citizens from Morgan and Jackson counties are pursuing the men, who are white, and if caught, it is feared that the officers will be unable to prevent a lynching. The people are greatly aroused, and have sworn vengeance against the Langs.

The name of the girl is not known here, but she is described as a beautiful and popular country girl. She is reported in a critical condition.

FAIRCLOTH ANNOUNCES SENATORIAL CANDIDACY

Was One of Most Prominent Members of House of Representatives Last Year.

Wrightsville, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—Hon. William Faircloth, who is serving his first term as representative from this county, yesterday made his formal announcement for the senatorship of this, the sixteenth, senatorial district.

The sixteenth district is composed of Johnson, Laurens and Emanuel counties, and following the rotation system among these counties, it is Johnson's time to name the nominee for this state office. Mr. Faircloth will very likely have a number of opponents, such men as ex-Senator Fortner, of Kite; Rev. C. B. Williams, of Spann, and Hon. George M. Rhiner, of this city, having been spoken of as probable candidates for this same office.

While at the last session of the Georgia legislature, Judge Faircloth introduced and had passed many important local measures, and has a number of general bills that are now pending for disposition. He is one of the prominent attorneys of this section.

ARCHBOLD AND ALDRICH PASS THROUGH SAVANNAH

Standard Oil Financier and the United States Senator in State Wednesday.

Savannah, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—For a few minutes yesterday, Savannah had as visitors, by an unusual coincidence, John D. Archbold, of Standard Oil, and letter-writing fame, and Senator Nelson A. Aldrich, of more recent fame. Mr. Archbold was on his way to Thomasville, where he will spend the remainder of the winter.

Senator Aldrich was on his way to St. Augustine to stay until the season's bronchial trouble disappears. With him were Mrs. Aldrich and their two daughters.

Both Mr. Archbold and Senator Aldrich contributed nothing through interviews to the local supply of knowledge.

MANNING JURY FAILS TO REACH AGREEMENT

Jury Still Tied Up After Hours of Deliberation.

Intense Interest Manifested in Trial of Albany Man for Embezzling Letter From Postoffice Containing Money Orders

Albany, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—The United States court room has been packed for two days with interested spectators of the trial of H. D. Manning, until a month ago money order clerk of the Albany postoffice, who is charged with embezzling a letter containing money orders.

Manning's indictment set forth many counts, and the government introduced a large number of witnesses, including postoffice employees from a number of towns.

The case has been fought with great determination by Manning's attorney, and occupied the full time of the court for two days. It was given to the jury this afternoon by Judge Speer, and after several hours of deliberation the jury has failed to reach an agreement.

There is intense local interest in the case, as Manning had been a young man highly thought of up to the hour of his arrest.

WADLEY SOUTHERN MAY BUY ROAD TO SEA

Swainsboro, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—J. M. Turner, general manager of the Georgia and Florida railway, has been in the city for a day or two, the purpose of his visit being to try to locate a depot for his road at this place.

The Georgia and Florida officials are expecting to put on double passenger service between Augusta and Madison when the connecting link through this county to Normantown is completed. Through trains will then be operated from Augusta via Midville, Keyesville and Swainsboro to Madison. From St. Clair to Rhythe, another link is being built to avoid a grade near Keyesville.

With this double service, Swainsboro will be brought very near to Augusta, a round trip being easily made in one day, giving several hours in Augusta.

The Wadley Southern people are again talking very strongly of buying the Georgia Piedmont and Coast, and thereby having an outlet to Darlington. If this object is accomplished, Swainsboro will have railroad facilities unexcelled by any city of its size in the state.

COTTON AND THE PRICE JUGGLERS.

It is not often that the president of a cotton exchange speaks loud warning to the cotton farmer. When he does, what he says deserves chained attention from him and his government.

For instance, here is W. B. Thompson, president of the New Orleans
Cotton Exchange, urging the farmers of the South to hold to the staple, declaring that cotton is worth no less than it was two weeks ago, and delivering this solid wisdom as regards the sinister menace of market manipulation:

The issue is a large one. It comprehends more than the interests of the bear or bull operators in cotton. It raises the question as to whether a few manipulators shall demoralize a great trade system and go unpunished therefor. It affects the best interests of not only the spot market, but the future market as well. The most powerful agent of retribution is within the control of the farmer and spot holder, if they will use it.

In justice it should be said that the New Orleans Cotton Exchange has seldom been subject to all the attacks brought against the New York Cotton Exchange.

The Louisiana Institution is situated in the heart of the cotton belt and responds, almost with clock-work fidelity, to the fluctuations of actual demand and supply.

Therefore, when President Thompson declares that the question is whether a "few manipulators shall demoralize a great trade system and go unpunished," the issue assumes serious proportions.

Why should not the government, as well as the farmer, take cognizance of these expressions from a man high in authority in the realm of cotton marketing?

"Several times we have had the governmental plea that it was difficult to get "proof" of undesirable transactions.

We have had evasions, quibbles, side-steppings innumerable, fine distinctions between "legitimate" and "illegitimate" gambling.

Here is a cotton exchange authority who demands that men who demoralize a great commodity-market shall be punished.

What says Washington to this?

Will the one show consistency by enlisting President Thompson's expert help?

Will the other follow his obviously sensible advice, by holding their cotton and checking the raid of unconscionable manipulators?

WOULD YOU VOTE "FOR IGNORANCE, DISEASE AND DEATH?"

Discussing the moral aspects of the $3,000,000 municipal bond issue in The Constitution recently, Dr. James W. Lee put the matter in this wise:

"But no man who thinks, can vote against the issue of bonds at this time without knowing that he is voting for ignorance and disease and death."

Strong language, that; especially from a conservative minister of the gospel.

The most casual analysis shows its unqualified truth.

The Atlanta of 1909 was only sixty per cent sanitary.

Greater Atlanta, with wider boundaries, greater population, must be less than sixty per cent sanitary.

This isn't parading unpleasant facts; it's merely indicating the indispensable duty of setting our house in order.

School and hospital facilities in the old Atlanta were also inadequate;
they are still more so in Greater Atlanta.

To remedy these conditions, for which a remedy must be found, it is either this bond issue or a higher tax rate.

The thinking, business citizen will not long hesitate between these alternatives. One of them means voting for the abolition or lessening of "ignorance and disease and death" under conditions that will make the remedy pay for itself.

The other means paying for these improvements at an enormous expense to the individual tax-payer.

It is absurd to assume that any Atlantan is going to vote for lack of equipment in fighting humanity's leading foes.

The main thing is to make the affirmative vote so overwhelming as to make secure Atlanta's prestige before the nation, before ourselves.

JUST COMPLAINT OF GEORGIA TOWNS.

Almost throughout South Georgia there is a growing murmur against late trains.

They come into Atlanta late, leave later and get to south Georgia points still further behind their schedule time.

Trains on two roads, carrying mail and passengers from extensive western sections, which have and would make, if on time, important east and west connections, have made the interesting record of not having been once on time since the beginning of the new year.

They have been running each day, for three weeks, anywhere from one to twelve hours late.

Do the railroads expect the public to submit calmly and without protest to this sort of service?

In Waycross, for instance, according to current dispatches, the arrival of a train on time has become so extraordinary an occurrence as to call for general comment.

And Waycross is only one of many south Georgia cities which are suffering from the same sort of experience.

Delayed trains throughout the state spell demoralization—demoralization in business, in travel, in convenience and comfort of the people.

The extent and regularity of these delays has become such as to affect wide areas, reached by local connections of the late trains; and then again, in respect to mails, by rural free delivery routes upon which the carriers leave early in the morning, and where a delay of an hour or more in getting the mail to the distributing postoffice means a delay of twenty-four hours in its delivery to those for whom it is intended.

Business transactions of immediate consequence and importance are as often dependent upon prompt delivery of the mails; a letter is forwarded one day and an answer expected the next.

But under present conditions there is no dependence to be put in mail delivery; it may take three or four days to get the reply which should have come in twenty-four hours.

To what extent delayed trains take toll of the industry and energy of Georgians by keeping them waiting for hours at stations for trains due in the morning, but which may not come until night, is incalculable.

These conditions are becoming well-nigh intolerable, as they were a couple of years ago, when today's trains had the habit of running on yesterday's schedules.

There is a chance here for important and valuable public service.

The railroad commission might, with abundant profit, try its hand upon it.

AUTOMOBILE LEGISLATION.

With the exception of the cities and towns which may regulate the speed and operation of automobiles according to their views, and of a few counties which have special laws varying widely in requirements and tending to much confusion, there is no regulation of the operation of motor vehicles upon the public highways of Georgia.

It is conceded that the time has come when Georgia can afford no longer to defer or neglect this question, and it becomes an unquestioned duty of the legislature at its coming session to put the essential principles of such regulation into definite enactment.

Frequently recurring accidents, the result of mad speeding or reckless and careless driving, upon the best paved and most used roads in the state, sufficiently emphasize the importance of prompt and remedial action.

Members of the Georgia legislature might well be giving the subject thought and attention now, for no matter what else the general assembly may here do, this is a subject it cannot ignore.

Many of the states have now effective laws regulating swift vehicle traffic; some of them are quite stringent, and there are respects in which they must be so in order to induce obedience and inculcate wholesome regard for them.

Commenting upon the new automobile law which has just gone into effect in Massachusetts, Caspar Whitney says, in Collier's Weekly:

As to the regulation of motor vehicles, the new law of Massachusetts, which goes into effect with this month, shows evidence of having been carefully prepared, and is infinitely in advance of any other state to date. Several provisions of this law are worthy of the attention of all legislators, the most important being that which provides for a punishment of two hundred dollars fine and six months in jail for racing on the highway, or running an automobile recklessly, or attempting to escape after injuring a person. And the next best is that of a jail sentence of one or two years for anyone twice detected running an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Another most important feature is that forbidding anyone under 18 years of age of running a motor vehicle.

These are good points for consideration, and there are others.

The main thing is to put an effective curb upon the reckless, dare-devil driver who shows regard neither for his own safety nor that of others.

THE "JURY-FIXER."

Judge John W. Maddox handed out a scathing denunciation of "jury-fixing" when he recently opened the session of Floyd superior court, in Rome.

His honor declared it to be common report that Floyd is afflicted with the "jury-fixer," which was, he went on to say, "the worst enemy the law or human society can have." He also urged upon all good citizens to bring any evidence to this effect before the grand jury, so that this species of outlaw could be meted proper punishment.

Next to the man who practices mob violence, the fixer of juries is perhaps the most contemptible and menacing factor in our judicial system.

As a rule, The Constitution believes Georgia is relatively free from this class of hidden criminals. But when a conservative judge of the superior court bench brings so outright an indictment, it is time to investigate and correct.

Two or three drastic and indiscriminating examples and we should see the last of a vicious practice that threatens alike both justice and society.

"JUST FROM GEORGIA"

The Snowless Bard.

The fire is low on the hearth tonight,

No bell to supper calls;

Sixteen songs to the snow so white,

And never a flake that falls!

I shall have to turn and change my plan,

Or move next door to the weather man.

Looks like treating a writer rough

When he pens a snowy rhyme;

But the Editors cannot use the stuff

If the snow won't fall on time.

And the grief of the poet none may tell,

When he hears no sound of a supper bell.

Wise to the Hook Worm.

"I see," he said, as he laid the paper down, "that one sign that one has the hook worm is a desire to swallow dirt. Give me my hat and overcoat."
"Where are you going?"
"I am going," he said, "to get in the push, and gobble about six lots of Atlanta real estate!"

For Blossoms on the Blow.

Longin' for a sky o' blue and blossoms on the blow;
To see a violet again I'd shovel tons of snow!

And any mockingbird I'd praise,
And take his note for thirty days.

Longin' for a glimpse o' green—for grasses cool and deep,
The hum of bees a-wanderin' where roses are to reap.

Just let a bird's song southward float,
I bet you'll endorse each note!

No Time to Tarry.

The card read: "You must leave this place on short notice." The next morning the house was vacant, and
to you."

the card had this additional inscription: "I decided it was best not to wait for Short Notice, so I left on the first train. I hope it is all the same
to you."

The Disorderly "Corps."

The Better Way tells this grimlyhumorous story:

"A man was walking down the street when he heard a lively knocking in a building adjoining the street and a voice crying sharply:
'The corpse will be in order! Good heavens,' said he, 'do the dead get disorderly
in this town?' 'Stranger,' said a lounger who had overheard this remark, 'the ain't no dead people in that room. You bet they are alive, and there they poundin' that you hear is the gavel that is bein'

used to stop some kind of a rumpus
in the women's relief corps that is ameetin' there today. Say, a feller was here just a day or two ago and spoke to the G. A. R. fellows and he called it 'relief corps' and everybody jest jiggled in his face. We know that c-o-r-p-s is a corpse."

No Winter There.

A Brother Dickey chorus to a revival song goes to this tune:

"De place whar Satan live at
Is de place whar Satan live at Dey ain't no frost or snow!"

Lines to a Cold Day.

The sky has hints of snowing;

Outdoors no livv stands;

The blizzard-winds are blowing
Louder than campaign bands.

Men who bleat out the summer sun
The skies with sadness view.

For six round dollars to the ton
Is coal enough for you!

SEWER ASSESSMENT

RAISES PROTEST

Land Companies Against 70 Cents Lineal Foot Assessment.

A protest against the city ordinance requiring persons whose property fronts on private sewers to pay the regular city assessment of 70 cents per lineal foot was lodged at the meeting of the sewers committee of council
yesterday by representatives of several land companies interested in the proposition.

The protestants claimed that if a land company developed its property by building sewers, and included in the purchase price the cost of the sewer,
the city should not levy an assessment of 70 cents per lineal foot, or any other sum, unless it constructed a public sewer in front of the property from which assessments could be collected.

As the result of the protest, a committee was appointed to investigate
the matter, consisting of Councilman
Craig Coffey, City Attorney Mayson,
City Engineer Clayton and Attorneys
W. A. Wimbley, Hudson Moore and Luther Rosser, representing the land companies interested.

ROOSEVELT REGARDED

AS ORACLE IN AFRICA

He Is Giving the Natives All Sorts of Advice, Says Dawson in an Address.

New York, January 20.—Theodore Roosevelt regarded as an oracle in East Africa, and is quoted there on what should be done in a new country because of his western experience,
said Warrington Dawson, in an address on "Roosevelt—Hunter and Man,"
before the Unitarian Club tonight. Mr.
Roosevelt, he said, has given the African natives all sorts of good advice
as to how their business should be conducted.

Mr. Dawson recently returned from East Africa, where he met the former president.

LANDRUM GETS 10 YEARS.

Floyd County Farmer Was Con- victed of Manslaughter.

Rome, Ga., January 20.—M. C. Land-rum, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in killing T. J. Davis, a road overseer, was today sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. In passing sentence, Judge John W. Maddox declared the verdict in the Landrum case marked the beginning of a new regime of law and order in North Georgia. Landrum's bond was fixed at $5,000 pending a motion for a new trial.

INTERESTING FIGURES ON A. & W. P. MELON CUTTING

Editor Constitution: In your issue of the 16th you pointed out the fact that on January 20 the Atlanta and West Point railroad stockholders would meet to vote on the issue of $1,232,200 of new stock to be given or sold to the old stockholders at par, or 100, and that this stock was now worth $160 per share, given or to be given, to the shareholders now of record, to be spent in laying a double track for this most important line of road, an improvement greatly needed
now.

It might be well in this connection to inquire and find out who are these most fortunate stockholders that are about to receive this princely bonus or gift.

Who are they? We don't know them all, but will name three that own and control a majority of the 12,329 shares
of this corporation.

The lessees of the Georgia Railroad
and Banking Company (L. & N. and Atlantic Coast Line), through the lease, own and control 5,472 shares of this stock and $388,900 of the debentures.

The Georgia Railroad Bank owns 315
shares.

The Central of Georgia owns 2,300
shares.

Directors in these corporations own
about 2,000 shares.

Out of 12,329 shares about 10,000 of them are owned by the corporations named above and their directors—the balance of this stock is scattered in small lots over the southern states.

Now then, the railroad commission can plainly see who is to get this bonus or gift of $559,000. The bulk of it goes to these corporations.

In addition to this gift the debenture holders are to be called in, paid off and retired and the state, county and city
are to be asked to give up this much of taxation also.

The Atlanta and West Point railroad stockholders, some of them
those that now own the debentures,
will all want to have the capital stock of the road increased so that these debentures can be called in and retired and gotten out of the reach of the comptroller general.

Under the law these debentures are taxable by the state, county and city.
The lessees of the Georgia railroad,
the L. & N. and Atlantic Coast Line own and control $388,900 of these debentures. They fought in the courts for a long time to evade the taxes upon this issue, but the courts decided against them. They then had these debentures transferred to a trustee non-resident and in this way tried to avoid the taxes.

This plan has failed them, they now seek their retirement with new stock issued and old stockholders at par, thus giving the present stockholders new stock at par, that is as valuable as the old, worth now $160 per share, and hard to get at that and in addition, rid themselves of taxation on $388,900
worth of debentures.

It might be well for the comptroller to keep his eagle eye on this little game and join the railroad commission in an effort to see that the state of Georgia is fairly and justly treated and that the taxpayers of the state and the patrons of this road are not imposed upon.

In fact, the real object of this doubling of capital stock is to get the debentures out of the way at the tax gathering.

We, of course, don't pretend to say what will be the final result of this venture, but we feel safe in advising
the stockholders of the A. & W. P.
railroad to let "wax enough alone," to continue the present policy, to by all means double track the road, but pay for it out

WILL EXTEND ALABAMA STREET

Propose to Build Viaduct Across Railroad Tracks.

Oakland City Taken In—Meter Inspector Position Created. Marietta Street Paving Money Appropriated—Tuberculosis Hospital Site Will Be Chosen.

A resolution introduced by the streets committee and providing for the appointment of a committee to investigate the feasibility of extending Alabama Street across the railroad tracks to the West Side by a viaduct or otherwise, was adopted by the general council at the adjourned session Thursday afternoon.

The following committee was appointed by Mayor Pro Tem. E. E. Pomeroy to investigate the proposition: Councilman Evans, Aldermen Grant, Johnson and Everett; City Engineer R. M. Clayton and City Attorney James L. Mayson.

The ordinance providing that heavily loaded vehicles shall be kept off of Whitehall and Peachtree streets, between Luckie and Mitchell streets, except when business requires their presence there, created considerable discussion, and was finally referred again to the streets committee for further consideration.

Oakland City Taken In.—The special committee appointed to take an inventory of Oakland City, which has recently become a part of Atlanta, submitted its report.

It was found that by incorporating the suburb Atlanta secures $68,931 in cash, a school lot and building valued at $10,000, a pair of mules and a wagon and harness, valued at $500, and a park lot of fourteen acres, valued at $6,000. The report of the committee was accepted and the committee was continued in order to wind up the details of transferring all the city property to Atlanta.

Alderman Everett of the eighth ward, offered an ordinance which called for the creation of a city meter inspector, who is to hear and investigate all complaints as to irregularities in electric, gas and water meters. The salary is not fixed in this ordinance, but is to be decided upon by the finance committee, who is to make the appointment to care for this new office, if created.

Marietta Paving.—Council at this session passed the money for the paving of Marietta Street from Spring to Foundry Streets, with wood blocks, and also awarded the contract for this work to Thornton & Mason, who also have the contract to do this work from Peachtree to Spring Streets.

Carrying out the terms of the resolution which makes $10,000 immediately available for the selection and purchase of a site for the City Tuberculosis Hospital, Mayor Pro Tem. Pomeroy named the two citizens who are to join with the council committee in this work, naming Captain W. G. Raoul and former Governor W. J. Northen.

The special committee appointed last year for this tuberculosis hospital work, and also to select a site for the L. F. Grant Mental Asylum, were also continued in office.

The matter of continuing the street numbering into Atlanta's territory was discussed in this meeting.

After the regular meeting of council the aldermanic board met and adjourned shortly before 7 o'clock.

SLATON TO DRAW AUTOMOBILE BILL

Will Introduce Measure at Coming Session of General Assembly.

President John M. Slaton, of the Georgia senate, is now engaged in reading up on the automobile laws of the Eastern states, with a view to introducing an automobile measure at the coming session of the general assembly, which will regulate the speed of autos in Georgia. President Slaton, who has only recently returned from New York city, where the question of automobile regulations as being agitated, is daily in receipt of papers, letters and suggestions from Eastern parties interested in securing a uniform law for all of the states.

The press of New York city is carrying on a campaign of education in the matter of speed legislation, and doing much to create and crystallize sentiment into a state law for New York state, where there are probably more machines than any other state in the union.

"We want a law that will be fair both to the public and to the automobile owner," said President Slaton. "We don't want a bill that will be so drastic as to take away from the owner. That has been our chief trouble heretofore. But we must have a law that will restrain the speed maniacs, these fellows that go tearing up and down the country roads at fifty and sixty miles an hour. They are a menace not only to the public, but to the careful automobile driver as well."

"A speed of twenty to twenty-five miles an hour on a country road, free from obstacles, should be fast enough for the most daring. In town the speed should be brought down to the demands made by congested traffic. But there will have to be a law which will inflict punishment for those who endanger life and property by fast and reckless driving through the country."

Hudson at Lafayette.—Lafayette, Ga., January 20.—A large crowd greeted Hon. T. G. Hudson today when he addressed the farmers of Walker county. All expressed themselves as highly pleased with the address, and think it will do much good along agricultural lines.

TEACHERS GIVEN SALARY RAISE

Five Per Cent Increase for School Teachers.

Four Hundred Odd Teachers Affected by the Raise—$3,500 Set Aside for the Raise—Apportionment Sheet Finally Adopted.

Effective in September, the four hundred-odd teachers in the common schools of Atlanta are to receive a flat increase in their salaries of 5 per cent. This is for the teachers in the grades from the first to eighth, inclusive.

This was decided upon yesterday afternoon at an adjourned meeting of the city council, when, after a prolonged debate, the ordinance offered by Alderman Johnson, Councilman Johnston, Chambers and Evans, calling for an increase, was adopted. The original paper called for an increase of 5 per cent for the first four grades and an increase of 10 per cent for the second four grades.

It was explained that the reason for the difference was that the upper four grades were the more difficult, and a higher salary and greater increase would prove an incentive for the teachers to prepare for these higher and harder grades.

However, the council adopted an amendment by Alderman Everett making the raise a flat one of 5 per cent, and this was adopted.

The aldermanic board, which met immediately after council adjourned, adopted the paper, too.

The sum of $3,500 was set aside for this increase, and after this action, the apportionment sheet, notice of whose hold up had been given, was finally adopted, with the understanding that they would have it held up, withdrawing their notice.

THE WEATHER TODAY: CLEARING AND COOLER

Rain Predicted for Friday Arrived Ahead of the Bureau's Schedule.

"Clearing and cooler Friday afternoon" is the promise of the weather man for the day. The rain predicted for Friday night arrived a little bit ahead of time, and began to pitter-patter on the pavement shortly after 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The previous forecast, for Thursday, "fair and warmer," seemed to have gone askew, for it was decidedly cloudy and felt quite cool during the morning hours. This cloudiness crystallized into rain of the steady variety during the late hours of the afternoon.

The high barometric pressure central from Colorado northward is expected to make itself felt here during this afternoon and tonight, when colder weather may be looked for. That it may be warmer in the morning than in the afternoon is also predicted, for the clearing and cooler is not expected, officially, until afternoon.

"Why don't you say 'afternoon'?" cut in the Gopher with a very broad "A" accent. "Now I have a little friend in the city," he continued, "who wears the broad 'A's' I have ever heard south of Mason and Dixon's line. Honest to goodness, when she goes to figure out whether she will or will not. The only time this record for the broad 'A's' has ever been equaled, in my hearing, before is when an amateur had this treacherous broad 'A' in hand and said, 'I lawt, and I lawt, and I lawt, until I just couldn't laff, any more.'"

PRESIDENT TAFT AT NABUCO FUNERAL

Last Rites Over the Brazilian Ambassador Were Most Impressive.

Washington, January 20.—With all the impressiveness and solemnity attending the joint participation of the state, the military and the church, the funeral of Joaquin Nabuco, late Brazilian ambassador to this capital, was conducted today at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic church.

The body was escorted to the church by cavalry, artillery and a battalion of engineers. The honorary pallbearers were Secretary Knox, Senators Root and Cullom, Associate Justice Holmes, John Barrett, the Italian, French and Hungarian ambassadors, and the Portuguese and Chilean ministers.

The services at the church were conducted by Monsignor Falconi, the Papal delegate, assisted by Monsignor Lee, of St. Matthew's.

President Taft, the members of his cabinet, nearly all of the diplomatic body in Washington, members of the supreme court of the United States and a number of senators and representatives attended.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the casket was conveyed to Oak Hill cemetery, there to remain until about the middle of February, when it will be taken to Rio de Janeiro.

HERMAN HAAS AGENT FOR AN AIRSHIP

Local Man Will Handle the Clement-Bayard Airship; Also Auto.

An agency for an airship—an airship that has been demonstrated, one that has shown that it will rise from the ground as a bird and soar through the upper ether with that same ease and grace a well-trained girl can walk the streets of the city—has been placed with Herman J. Haas, of Atlanta, the well-known automobile man.

It is the Clement-Bayard aeroplane, said by experts to be one of the easiest air crafts to handle. Even an amateur with a few lessons can rise above his observant friends and look down upon them with a smile, a bow and laugh, and sail away—even from his creditors.

So far, Mr. Haas has not set up his model, neither has he taken lessons in the art of air-moving. But all that will come later—when Mr. Haas finds that he must demonstrate to make a sale.

Along with the Clement-Bayard airship commission came to Mr. Haas the agency for the Clement-Bayard car—a machine that stays on the earth and does not fly.

INSANE ASYLUM GETS THE PROBE

Report Made on South Carolina Hospital.

Majority Report of Commission States Dead Patients Were Treated as if They Were Dogs—Wards of White Women Overrun With Vermin.

Columbia, S. C., January 20.—Charges of the grossest violations of the ordinary rules of sanitation and decency and a stinging arraignment of the board of regents of the State Hospital for the Insane are contained in the majority report of the commission appointed to investigate the hospital, made public here today.

The regents of the institution are: W. J. Gooding, Hampton; J. Perry Glenn, Anderson; W. W. Pay, Congaree; J. H. Taylor, Columbia. The report shows that on December 13 last there were in the institution 1,533 inmates—529 white women, 370 white men, 321 negro women, 322 negro men.

Kept in Filthy Condition.—Without placing the blame on any particular person, the committee's report states the evidence shows: That fifteen patients of one ward were bathed in the same water in a bathtub; that the foulest water closets are located within a few feet of an outdoor kitchen; that there are no screens about these closets; that the bodies of dead patients are buried one on top of another in the same lot, with a little consideration as if they were so many dogs; that cholera hogs and the dead are kept in the same lot; that the wards, even of the white women, are overrun with vermin and the patients are allowed to go unkempt and ragged.

Many Cases of Brutality.—The report also states that many attendants are reported illiterate and brutal, many cases of brutality being reported, and that the food served the patients is badly prepared by persons who never learned to cook and is served in dirty, greasy tin dishes, and government reports are quoted to show that in the South Carolina hospital the death rate is the highest in the United States, 21.54 per cent, as compared with a general average of 11 per cent.

It is estimated that it will require $350,000 to put the plant in proper shape, and it is suggested the present plant be sold, the land being worth $400,000, and two plants, to cost $500,000 each, be erected by the state elsewhere.

Minority Report.—A minority report submitted by three members of the commission disagrees with the main features of the majority report. It holds that the lack of funds to put the institution on a modern basis, due to the state's heavy indebtedness, is the principal source of trouble.

It states that the patients, as a rule, are well cared for; that the food served is of good quality and well cooked, and that the management of the state's farm is systematic and efficient.

The minority report states that it is unnecessary to create a great debt for the state in the purchase of new sites, and that the expenditure of about $30,000 annually for several years will meet the requirements of the situation.

GLOBE TROTTER BOOSTS ATLANTA; WHY HE ESCAPES MANY DANGERS

Macon, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—Here is a man who lived twelve years in Atlanta, and he attributes his health and very life now to having spent this much of his time in the city of skyscrapers at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains. J. Alf Edwards is a traveling man with the world for his territory. He represents the Glazier Metal Company, of London. He is a brother to Postmaster Harry Edwards, of Macon, but this, he says, had nothing to do with the remarkable story he relates.

He reached home a few days ago, after having been thrown on the rocks off a vessel between China and Japan, when the flames consumed the big passenger sea-going steamer. But in 1907, say he was a patient in a hospital, where appendicitis had him in its firm grasp. The temperature, he asserts, was 123 in the shade, and there was no ice to be had. He was almost at death's door, but survived his attack, met the operation and got well in the hospital. He reveals some of the traces of the attack now, but got well because he once resided in Atlanta.

The metal concern he represents is a corporation organized by Macon capitalists many years ago. They are still pushing a prosperous business, and Alf Edwards is home merely to shake hands and see the folks again.

Bridge Luncheon.

Mrs. J. Frank Meador was hostess yesterday morning at one of the handsomest card parties of the season. She entertained forty-four ladies, and the continental game of bridge was followed by a delicious course luncheon.

The card tables were set in the large living room, which had an attractive decoration in foliage plants, and the designs of the hand-painted score cards were hunting scenes appropriate to the country club setting.

Miss Orr's Luncheon.

A wilderness of flowers was the impression made on the guests who were entertained by Miss Harriet Orr yesterday as they entered her home to attend at an elegant luncheon. There were eighty in the party, and they were served at small tables in the hallway, library, drawing room, dining room and the spacious sun parlor.

Mrs. Orr and Miss Orr received in the drawing room and at 1:30 o'clock the party was seated and the hospitable home, aglow with lights and fragrant with flowers, was a scene of pleasure and charming hospitality. Few hostesses so well know the art of hospitality as Mrs. Orr and Miss Orr, and their party of eighty were entertained with the same ease as the small gathering of twelve would have been. Every detail of every table was finished and exquisite.

In the hallway all the tables had as centerpieces American Beauty roses; the candlesticks had shades of that color, while also reflected in the candles and cakes.

In the white and gold drawing room the decorations were in white and gold, those colors expressed in the gold-centered Easter lilies. These in the center of the table and the center of the table and the candlesticks had white shades under gold filigree.

In the library the tables had centerpieces of red carnations, the candlesticks had shades that color, and the necessary decorations were the same. In the dining room, one so prettily adapted to entertaining, each table had a centerpiece of Killarney roses; the candlesticks had shades of pink silk rose petals, and vases of pink roses were on the buffet and serving table.

In the sun parlor there was the thought of spring expressed in the dozens of jonquills and potted flowers, and as a finishing touch the yellow-shaded, candlesticks. The hanging baskets had clusters of jonquills showing among the fern, and each table had as centerpieces bowls of jonquills. The menu served was delicious and the entertainment in detail was most artistic.

The lovely young hostess wore a yellow gown veiled in lace, the corsage embroidered in gold. Mrs. Orr was handsomely gowned in white charmeuse, the corsage trimmed in lace and a touch of silver.

An Artistic Occasion.

Mrs. Mrs. Merrill Hutchinson gave a dramatic and musical interpretation of Tennyson's "Enoch Arden" yesterday afternoon at the home of Colonel and Mrs. William Lawson Peel for the benefit of St. Mark's Methodist church.

Mrs. Hutchinson read and Mr. Hutchinson played the musical accompaniment. Both are artists, and the occasion was enjoyed by a large and enthusiastic audience.

Bridge Series.

Mrs. Frank Pearson's afternoon bridge was a delightful event of yesterday and the second in a series.

Sixteen ladies were her guests, and the reception rooms had an artistic decoration in white and green, Roman hyacinths and narcissus being used with ferns. The hand-painted score cards had designs of the same flowers, and the silver candelabra on the mantels burned white candles under green silk-trimmed shades.

Mrs. Pearson's becoming toilet was of white and gray chiffon, with a finishing touch in green velvet.

Afternoon Bridge.

Mrs. W. L. McGill gave an enjoyable bridge party yesterday afternoon at her pretty new home on the Boulevard.

Ferns and begonias were used in attractive decoration, and the score cards were hand-painted Confederate flags. The prizes were a hand-embroidered sewing bag and a miniature.

Mrs. McGill wore a white mull gown, elaborate with lace.

Miss King's Card Party.

Miss Carolyn King's card party was a pretty affair of yesterday and a compliment to Miss Julie Richardson and her guest, Miss Frances Millan, of St. Joseph, Mo.

Foliage plants and flowers were used

SILER CITY LADY A VICTIM

Mrs. Gilliland, of Siler City, Was Left in Bad Shape as a Result of an Attack of the Grip.

Siler City, N. C.—"I was in bad shape," writes Mrs. Sarah J. Gilliland, of this place, "after an attack of the grip; I was bothered with womanly troubles, but since taking Cardui I am much improved. It has done me more good than the doctors, and I feel it saved my life, after all other methods had failed."

"I thank you for the good that Cardui has done to me, and hope every lady who suffers will try it. I will recommend it to my friends."

You can rely on Cardui being of benefit to you. Its ingredients are mild herbs, having a gentle, tonic effect on the female constitution. The special herbs are grown abroad and imported by us direct. They are not in the Pharmacopoeia, nor for sale at druggists, except as put up by us, so you cannot get the effect of Cardui, except by buying Cardui, the woman's tonic.

No other medicine or tonic has exactly the same results as Cardui, no other has the record of 50 years of successful treatments of cases of female weakness, debility and disease. It is certainly worth trying.

Ask your druggist.

In decoration, and delicious refreshments were a feature.

The prizes were silk stockings and a deck of cards, and the guest of honor was presented silk stockings.

Miss King was a charming hostess, wearing a white satin gown, and Mrs. Porter King, assisting her daughter in entertaining, wore black silk embroidered.

To Miss Millan.

Miss Frances Nunnally was hostess at a pretty little dinner last night at her home, "Brookwood," her guests including Miss Julie Richardson, Miss Frances Millan of St. Joseph, Mo., Messrs. John Wheatley, Bowie Martin and George Yundt.

The table had a handsome decoration with silver vases of pink carnations and ferns, and all the color details were pink.

Miss Nunnally wore a French gown of gold-colored silk trimmed with embroidered gold bands; the cloth of gold corsage veiled in cream net.

Miss Richardson wore blue silk embroidered in gold.

Miss Millan was gowned in blue chiffon broadcloth and lace.

After dinner the party occupied a box at the Grand.

Mrs. Stewart Entertains.

Mrs. A. P. Stewart entertained delightfully yesterday at her home on West Peachtree street, inviting a group of young ladies to meet Miss Mildred Woolley at luncheon, and a number of her married women friends to enjoy a cup of tea at 5 o'clock.

The house was prettily decorated with foliage plants and pink roses, and the luncheon table was artistic in pink. The centerpiece was a basket of Killarney roses and ferns, the silver chandeliers had pink shades, and the candles and loes were pink.

Mrs. Stewart was becomingly gowned in gray silk voile, embroidered in the shades of rose, and Miss Woolley wore a blue silk gown and a black hat trimmed with blue plumes.

In the afternoon Mrs. Stewart was assisted in entertaining by Miss Frances Stewart and Miss Letitia Green, who poured tea, and Mrs. C. Shelverton and Miss Margaret Webb, who served punch.

President's Reception.

A beautiful occasion last night was the reception given by Miss Bertha Harwood, as president of the Atlanta Musical Association, in compliment to the active and prominent representation of Atlanta's musical talent.

The large company enjoying Miss Harwood's hospitality included the active members of the association, the associate or honorary members and a few guests who are interested in the success of the association and the progress of local musical life. The gathering was thus a brilliant one of cultured people—professional musicians, connoisseurs and amateurs—and their entertainment was bright and gracious.

The president was assisted in receiving by the other officers of the association, Mr. J. W. Marshbank, Mrs. R. Wayne Wilson, Mrs. Theodore Morgan Stephens, Miss Kate Blatterman, Mr. Edward Werner, William E. Arnaud, and by Miss Nellie Davis, of Dayton, Ohio, who is visiting Miss Harwood, and contributed to the evening's informal program of music.

Miss Davis is a contralto of fine voice and artistic attainment, and in an Italian aria and a group of songs by American composers her introduction to local favor was most auspicious and delightful. She was becomingly gowned in pink lousine satin embroidered in silver.

Miss Harwood wore a handsome toilet of pink chiffon broadcloth with a corsage garniture in gold embroidery and lace.

Dr. C. Edward Buchanan and Mr. John G. Moore played a Schubert sonata for violin and piano, their rendition of which proved an artistic and delightful accompaniment to Miss Davis' selections.

The spacious club room was elaborately decorated, its finish in foliage green and old ivory making a grateful background for a tasteful arrangement of foliage plants and flowers.

The series of arches which span the hall from end to end were outlined with bamboo, and the same graceful vine framed the windows and doors. The stage was a bower of green with bamboo and palms, and in the midst of the prevalent green the bright color of growing azaleas, vases of roses and baskets of hyacinths were effective. The punch-table was garlanded with smilax, and dainty refreshments were served.

Bridge Tea.

Thirty-six ladies were the guests of Mrs. W. G. Rauch yesterday afternoon, when she entertained at bridge, the occasion a pretty and enjoyable one.

The decorations were in green, hand-painted foliage plants being used, and delicious refreshments were served at 5 o'clock, when a few other guests joined the players at tea.

The bridge prizes were silk stockings and a mirror.

Mrs. Rauch was gowned in blue rajah silk embroidered.

CORSET COVERS
DRAWERS
PETTICOATS

Bargains in Undermuslins

Received at the store yesterday.

Gowns, Corset Covers, Drawers and Petticoats in the regular dollar grades, which we shall put on tables today at 75¢ each.

We consider this a "long" feather in our cap—an anti-climax to our white sale, which started several weeks ago.

In spite of the rise in cotton, we offer you this very definite bargain.

All the garments are well made and prettily trimmed, showing the work of deft fingers. 75¢ garment.

New Styles in Skirts $5

Here are the first arrivals in walking skirt styles for spring.

Panama and invisible stripe novelties are the materials used. The light weight of these fabrics is admirably suited to the style chosen, which is the new pleated panel effect.

Colors are tan, brown, navy and black.

Price $5.00—look as though they'd cost $8.50.

These skirts are designed to take the place of the hack skirt that has become too heavy and bulky.

White Lawn Waists $1.00

These lawn waists at one dollar show a pleasant note of variety in the inexpensive white waist. Some are made simply, with fine tucks forming the front, and narrow lace at neck and sleeves. Others show the broad pleats, plainly finished.

Then there are many of the waists trimmed with lace and embroidery; these are more or less fancy in design, and show good variety all the way through.

Amberola

A new Edison Phonograph

—no less remarkable for its beauty of design and finish than for its perfect sound reproducing qualities.

An opera singer's voice may leave nothing to be desired, while the personality of the artist may lack much. For instance, it is more pleasing to listen to Blanche Arral than many of the other prima donnas, because she is a beautiful woman. So it is with the Amberola. The beauty of its exterior is in perfect keeping with its incomparable tonal qualities. The Amberola is a delight to the eye as well as to the ear. See and hear the Amberola at your dealer's today. Price, $200.00.

DURAND'S RESTAURANT

AT ANDERSON CORNER

Will Occupy the Site Now Occupied by Hardware Concern.

The Durand Restaurant Company has leased the property on the northeast corner of Peachtree Street and Edgewood Avenue, now occupied by the Anderson Hardware Company, and after thoroughly remodeling it, will install there a first-class cafe and rathskeller. The Nunnally Company, which owns the property, will reserve the ground floor, but the rest of the building will be used as a restaurant. The Durand company has been intending for some time to establish a branch on the north side, but up to the present time, has been unable to find a suitable location. The corner where they propose to establish themselves has been occupied by a hardware concern since 1864, but the rapid rise of real estate has compelled this branch of business to move elsewhere. Harry Leslie Walker, a well-known architect, is working on the plans for the remodeling of the building, which will cost about $25,000. There will be a large cafe on the second floor and a banquet hall on the third floor, not to mention the rathskeller and the room devoted to that delectable mollusc, the oyster. The main entrance will be on Edgewood Avenue, through a marble hallway. The two present branches of the Durand Restaurant Company, on Alabama Street and at the Union Depot, will continue to do business.

FUTURES BEING BOUGHT BY SOUTHERN MILLS

According to Reports Received by Savannah Brokers—Will Demand Deliveries.

Savannah, Ga., January 20.—Savannah brokers received reports today that southern mills were buying heavily of cotton future contracts in New York, and would demand deliveries. By this means the mills are enabled to take advantage of the lower prices of futures, spot cotton in the southern markets having failed to decline to anything like a corresponding degree.

THE BROWN SHOE COMPANY BREAK ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS.

The Brown Shoe Co., of St. Louis, reported that their shipments for the year 1909 were the largest in the history of the company, they having added another link to the chain of consecutive gains for each of the last nine years, without any exception, during which time their volume of business has nearly tripled. Last year was in every respect a success, and they extended congratulations to all their customers, friends and employees, and are facing the prospects of this year with confidence of increased optimism and general expectancy for things much bigger and better.

This Company operates eight mammoth shoe factories and turn out over six million pairs of shoes per year, consisting of high-grade "White House" shoes for men and women, "Buster Brown Blue Ribbon" shoes for boys and girls, and their other great specialty lines of medium grade shoes, all having the "B" trade-mark of the company, which "means quality," stamped in the shank. The Brown Shoe Company employs 125 traveling salesmen, who cover the entire United States.

NO AUTO SPEEDING FOR GOV. BROWN

He Thinks Regulation Is Needed in Georgia.

Gov. Brown Impressed by Massachusetts Law Regulating Autos—Conference of Governors Adjourns After Perfecting Plans Next Meeting.

By John Corrigan, Jr.
Washington, January 20.—(Special.) The feature of today's exercises of the "House of Governors," which particularly impressed Governor Brown, was a paper by Governor Eben S. Draper, of Massachusetts, on state regulation of automobiles.

There are 20,000 automobiles in Massachusetts, and Governor Draper showed that state regulation had become a necessity. He suggested that possibly an automobile commissioner was needed in every state, whose duties would be similar to those of the state railroad commissioners. He said that Massachusetts required annual registration with the highway commission, the fees for such registration, varying from $5 to $25. A license fee is also charged against operators.

Governor Brown believes that state regulation of automobiles is needed in Georgia to prevent reckless driving, and protect those who use the public roads in a reasonable way from the menace of speed-mad maniacs.

Just a School for Governors.

The final sessions of the conference were marked by a divergence of views among the governors as to the wisdom of the state executives as a body, passing resolutions for or against any given proposition. Several governors maintained that the greatest good would be accomplished by a courageous and definite stand upon great public questions, while others claimed that the conference were in the nature of a school for the governors, where each learned the experience of his fellows. Eventually all resolutions calling for a formal expression of opinion by the governors as a body were left in abeyance.

A sub-committee of the League of Self-Supporting Women, of New York, submitted a statement to the conference, recommending that the political status of women in the separate states be made one of the topics for full discussion at the next meeting of governors.

The conference unanimously adopted the report of the committee on plan and scope, which was submitted by Governor Hughes, of New York.

For the Next Meeting.

The report recommended that an annual meeting of governors be held between Thanksgiving Day and Christmas, at one of the state capitals; that a committee of arrangements, consisting of Governors Willson, of Kentucky; Hadley, of Missouri; and Ansel, of South Carolina, be appointed to select the place and prepare for the meeting; that this committee be empowered to appoint sub-committees, and employ a secretary and that the expenses be incurred be apportioned among the states according to population.

Among those who addressed the conference were Governors Ansel, of South Carolina, and Comer, of Alabama.

Governor Ansel discussed extradition and after giving a brief review of the law and decision of courts in regard to the subject of extradition, declared that from these decisions he had concluded that "there is but one question of fact that the executive must pass upon, and that is, whether the person charged is a fugitive from justice."

"If that fact appears to his satisfaction," he added, "and the requisition papers show upon the face of them that the other requirements of the constitution and the act of congress have been complied with, then I maintain that he has no alternative but to honor the requisition made and issue his extradition warrant to the agent of the state making the demand."

Speech by Governor Comer. Owing to lack of time a speech which Governor Comer, of Alabama, had prepared, was not delivered but simply presented. In it he discussed a number of problems in which his state particularly is interested. He recommended again, as at last year's conference, that liberal appropriations be urged for river improvements.

"I view with alarm," he said, "the suppression of state courts, of state control of interstate affairs and the evident tendency to make interstate business of whatever description, a matter of national control and character. By such a policy the states would be stripped of authority and the national government would be put in more intimate relation with our larger properties and separated to a great extent from the smaller properties."

It is even said that Mr. Roosevelt has agreed to run for congress in the first district of New York state, in which Oyster Bay, his home, is located. The understanding that he will be elected to the speakership if he runs, it is declared, insisted upon by Mr. Roosevelt.

DECATUR TO HAVE NEW POSTOFFICE

Government Will Rent New Quarters—People to Make the Selection.

Washington, January 20.—(Special.) Congressman Livingston reports that Decatur is to have a new postoffice immediately. The government proposes to rent new quarters, the choice of which was referred to Colonel Livingston, who, in turn, has left the matter to the people of Decatur. Options on six buildings were secured, but three of these proved to be too expensive. Livingston has forwarded the other three propositions to Major Houston, who will consult the people of Decatur as to their choice.

"As soon as Major Houston informs me of the choice I will inform the department and the building will be rented. It will be fitted up handsomely to meet the demands of the office."

Noon Passed Without Tribune Being Called to Order. No Quorum.

Washington, January 20.—What had been supposed to be an absolutely unbreakable rule was violated today when, noon arrived, and passed without the supreme court of the United States being called to order. Six members constitute a quorum, but only Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Harlan, Brewer, Day and Lurton were present.

After a wait of eighteen minutes, Justices White and McKenna entered the court hurriedly, fastening their robes about them as they took their places on the bench. They had been in attendance at the funeral services of the late Ambassador Nabuco, of Brazil.

LATEST REPORTS OF THE MARKETS.

LATE IN THE SESSION

Prices Suffered Severe Break in

Morning—Market Closed

Firm—October Higher.

New York, January 20.—There was a renewal of nervousness in the cotton market today, and while there was no such rush of liquidation as the previous week, sentiment seemed to be very apprehensive as a result of conditions in the stock market, with prices suffering a severe break during the morning. A better tone developed late in the day, owing largely to trade buying and expectations

of a big reduction in the local stock

and situation. The market closed

covered, the close being firm at an advance of 6 points on October, unchanged price 12¢ 1/2. December and March 14 points net lower and the active month.

The market opened steady at a decline of 4 points on October, but generally 10 to 15 points lower in recording to private advice, a heavy pool market had been depressed by straddle selling, and right after the opening there was a big demand for
